Twitter almost purges its India staff

It's part of the platform's plan to cut 50% of its 7,500-strong workforce across the globe; all offices shut temporarily

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

TWITTER Inc under its new owner Elon Musk has dismissed most of its 250-odd employees in India as part of mass layoffs across the globe. Sources said people across engineering, sales and marketing, and communications teams have been fired.

While there has been no official statement about the retrenchment, several employees took to the microblogging platform to confirm their layoffs. A former staffer, on condition of anonymity, told this newspaper that many of them are in a state of shock. According to reports, Twitter plans to cut its workforce by half, issuing pink slips to nearly 3,700 employees globally.

Aditi Shorewal, communication lead at Twitter, tweeted, "We knew this day would come, we prepared, but..it still hurts."

Another former employee Yash Agarwal's tweet has gone viral. "Just got laid off. Bird App, it was an absolute honour, the greatest privilege ever to be a part of this team, this culture."

Agencies have reported that some former employees in the US have sued Twitter saying they were not given enough notice.

Meanwhile, in a memo, Twitter reminded employees about the need to "adhere to Twitter policies that prohibit you from discussing confidential company information on social media, with the press or elsewhere".

Twitter also said it was temporarily closing all offices for the safety of employees as well as its systems. "If you are in an office or on your way to office, please return home," it said in an email to employees.

When asked about the layoffs, former Twitter India head Manish Maheshwari said: "My heart goes out to them. They are top-class professionals, any company would be glad to have them."

In another development, Musk blamed activists for the company's financial distress. "Twitter has had a massive drop in revenue due to activist groups pressuring advertisers, even though nothing has changed with content moderation and we did everything we could to appease the activists. Extremely messed up! They're trying to destroy free speech in America," he said.

D-G shifted out of Tihar over protection money racket

UJWAL JALALI @New Delhi

TNIE IMPACT

DELHI'S Director General (Prisons) Sandeep Goel was on Friday transferred and asked to report to the police headquarters, days after this newspaper broke the story of jailed conman Sukesh Chandrashekhar alleging he was forced to pay ₹10 crore as protection money.

IPS officer Sanjay Beniwal (1989-batch AGMUT cadre) has been appointed the new DG (Prisons). Beniwal was last year transferred from Chandigarh to Delhi and given the newly created post of Special Commissioner, Perception Management and Media Cell in the Delhi Police.

Chandrashekhar had written to Delhi Lt Governor V K Saxena levelling serious allegations of extortion against Goel and jailed AAP minister Satyendar Jain. Currently lodged at Delhi's Mandoli prison, Chandrashekhar's had alleged that he made payments not only to Jain and Goel but also to the Aam Aadmi Party to the tune of ₹50 crore as he was promised an important position in the party in south India.

The allegations put the AAP in the vortex of a political storm with rivals BJP and Congress training their guns at its party chief Arvind Kejriwal. The L-G's office on October 18 forwarded Chandrashekhar's letter to Delhi Chief Secretary Naresh Kumar for suitable action.

Treat first, procedures later, hospitals warned

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

A day after a pregnant woman in labour and her unborn twins died from excessive bleeding at their residence after being denied treatment at the Tumakuru District Hospital, Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar said a new set of laws and guidelines will be put in place for hospitals to strictly follow to ensure those facing medical emergencies are not turned away for want of procedures and documents at the hospitals. If need be, the laws will be amended in the next assembly session, he said.

Following the health minister's directions, the health department issued a series of guidelines stating that nationality, caste and economic status of a patient should not be asked for in times of medical emergency; no documents like Tayi card, Aadhaar, ration card or any other should be asked for; that hospitals' and health centres' foremost duty is to provide treatment to patients; and that hospitals cannot force patients or attenders to submit documents ahead of treatment.

AGRI TECH GIVES FARMERS THE EDGE

Using drones for farm management, reducing salt content in soil, and solar energy usage have become popular

NAMRATA SINDWANI @ Bengaluru:

TECHNOLOGY advancement to help reduce labour workforce is gaining popularity among farmers, with innovations like using drones for improved farm management, reducing salt content in soil, and solar energy for energy efficiency, even in areas with no electricity.

'Innovation in Agriculture' as the theme for Krishi Mela 2022 resonated well with stalls displaying different technologies. Usage of solar power in areas which have electricity for a few hours or not at all, inverters and water pumping machines working on solar energy were proving to be helpful to farmers. One of the inverters could function for 7-8 hours, with a 2.5-hour charge. The manufacturers, Mecwin Empowering Future, said they had sold around 25,000 pieces of their most popular product, the water pumping machine, this year in India.

Introduction of drones for the sector in the 2022 budget is also being seen on the ground in South India. Beegle Agritech, a Bengaluru-based startup, has been renting out drones for mapping, surveying and image processing, analysing crop health, crop count and yield as well. The drones capture images using multi-spectral cameras -- red depicting crops under stress, yellow showing mild stress and green showing areas performing well.

Stall owners who showcased machines for harrowing, separation and even harvesting, said the products were becoming popular among farmers as they reduced labour costs, and time investment in their farms as well. The technology was helpful in improve the quality and quantity of the harvest too.

Karnataka based de-stoning, de-hulling and polishing machines which can separate around 400kg of grains at a time were also popular.

ORGANIC RAJAMUDI RICE DRAWS FITNESS FREAKS AT FARMER FAIR

MOHAMMED YACOOB @ Bengaluru

Organic rice variety Rajamudi, which is believed to have once graced the palate of erstwhile royal households, is a big draw at the Krishi Mela, especially among health-conscious visitors.

According to officials at the Organic Farming Research Station (OFRS), Naganahalli, the red-coloured rice is grown on 4 acres of land on OFRS' 60-acre property in Mysuru.

Farm Superintendent, OFRS, P Prakash told The New Indian Express that the crop takes 160 days to yield and the research station has managed to derive 12 quintals per acre. He said that at present, the station has successfully managed to collect 351 types of paddy, and is promoting many local varieties. The idea is to encourage farmers to cultivate organic rice in one or two acres for their own consumption.

"We cultivate the rice without using pesticides and ensure it gets sufficient water supply. Our primary focus was for local crops like 'Bili', 'Kempu', 'Kappu', 'Bangar Kovai', 'Rathna Choodi', 'Gandhasale', and others. A few varieties are already available in the market, but they are not grown organically. At the station, we research on increasing output, while through fairs, we aim to make farmers and visitors aware about healthy diet," Prakash said, adding that organic farming is costly and demanding.

"If the farmer intends to make a profit, he may not opt for this method on a large tract of land. Based on the acres, a farmer would expect 40 quintals of output, hence it is suggested that he grows the crop in one or two acres for consumption," he added.

The research station has displayed dozens of organic paddy varieties, and has also brought Rajamudi rice grown at the 4 acres area at the station premises at Naganahalli in Mysuru. The price for the rice is fixed at Rs 70 per kg, said Sumath Kumar, Research Associate, OFRS.

After the successful completion of a pilot in Indira Nagar, India Post will soon extend the service to other parts of the city.

The Karnataka Postal department is partnering with the courier service network, Coreyo, for the service and one can book the pickup through its website. An app will also be created in the future.

"It got a good response and we will now extend it to all other post offices in the city soon" she said.

Chief Postmaster General, Karnataka Circle, Rajendra S Kumar confirmed the development.

Co-founder and Director of Coreyo, Vince N Jose, said, "We will utilise the services of Dunzo for the pickup. There is a post office within 2-3 km of every house in the city. Poultry sale at veterinary varsity campus back to pre-Covid levels

MOHAMMED YACOOB @ Bengaluru

Representatives of the Karnataka Veterinary Animal and Fisheries Sciences University (KVAFSU), which has displayed several types of poultry offerings like Giriraja, Broiler, Swarnadhara, Punjab Broiler, and Nati at the Krishi Mela, say that the sale of chickens at the institution has now returned to pre-Covid levels, and the fresh batch of 12,000 chicks twice a week, gets sold rapidly. In eight weeks, the birds are ready for sale.

Assistant Professor AN Prabhudev of KVAFSU told TNIE that bookings for chicks are always full, and each farmer takes about 500 chicks a week from the counter. Day-old chicks of Giriraja, Swarnadhara and Punjab Broiler cost Rs 22 each, and Nati chicks cost Rs 25. "From Day one to up to 40 weeks, vaccination is necessary, and when the chicks are being handed over to a buyer, they are vaccinated against MD Marek's disease," he said.

He further added that apart from Giriraja, Swarnadhara and Punjab Broiler have now become popular. At the university campus, birds are sold live at Rs 160 per kg.

Meanwhile, for the purpose of eggs, birds are identified and kept aside from the 18th week. "Unlike Nati birds, the eggs from Broiler varieties have to be hatched using artificial incubation," Prabhudev mentioned.

PETER VIDAL

05TH November : Today's dominant alignments are deep, dark and Scorpionic. What does this mean? That we'll all have lots of secrets? Perhaps! But what Scorpio really means is that we're all being faced with a challenge to be honest - and that's not always easy! The first step is to be honest with ourselves - and that's even harder!

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
You have a reputation for getting your own way. In part, this is others' fault for allowing themselves to be overruled. However, today, may I advise you to be extra sensitive to partners' rather delicate feelings. The more pleasant you are to them, the nicer they'll be to you.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 - May 21)
You could be at your most persuasive. This really is a sociable day and you should make great play of your ability to bring people together. Prospects for those in the property market are distinctly better than average but, as usual, your planning has to be perfect.

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)
The various relationships between Mars, Mercury, Venus and Jupiter are perfectly optimistic in their inclinations, and should suit you down to the ground. This is a time to get on with your favourite tasks, to exchange information, make short trips and generally chase your special ambitions.

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)
Your particular brand of sensitivity is one we could all learn from. Powerful emotional alignments suit your mood and may encourage you to put yourself on the line as far as one special relationship is concerned. You'll need all the courage and confidence at your disposal.

LEO
(July 24 - Aug. 23)
Slowly but surely you ought to be reassuring partners of your loyalty and dedication. The lesson to learn at the moment is that partnerships must be worked at. This simple truth is quite compatible with the fun, pleasure and enjoyment that come from special associations.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Other people hold the key. It doesn't matter whether your speciality is a working partnership, a romantic liaison or just friendship in general. All that is important is that you open your heart. Once you do that, then other people may respond in the ways that you always hoped they would.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
What you can do now is take a much firmer line with children. You should also realise that there are many chores to be completed and tasks to be done, even if you are in the mood for a day off. Your best approach is to call in a long-forgotten favour.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
As the Moon moves to and fro between challenging regions of your chart and harmonious ones, the chances for romantic happiness improve. You should seize the opportunity to enjoy yourself, regardless of whether your interests are high-brow or low.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Once again, home and family affairs occupy your attention. It may be a day to indulge in your favourite practical tasks, or to enjoy the company of your favourite relations. Friendly communication with everyone is the top theme for the next twenty-four hours.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
There is a great temptation to talk about subjects of which you know nothing. If you can get away with a bluff, do so by all means. On the other hand, if facts are important, you may care to get a second opinion. That's especially the case if you're risking your own cash.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
The time has come to clear the decks, as I think you know. As long as you have major personal matters in hand, you may indulge a financial whim. If spending plans are your top priority, then it looks as if frivolities may be a better buy than necessities.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
There are so many thought-provoking planetary patterns at the moment, but the dominant mood is emotional. My hope is that we will see the very best of your caring, compassionate sensitivity. My concern is that you may be a little too ready to build molehills into quite unnecessary mountains.

STAFF OF ERRING HOSPITALS WILL BE BOOKED: SUDHAKAR

SUDHAKAR said if any such case is reported in future, criminal proceedings will be initiated against the staffers of the medical centres concerned, and they could even be dismissed from service.

Sudhakar did not mince words while asserting that if doctors or hospital staffers were found misbehaving with patients or their attenders, their services would be immediately terminated.

Sudhakar said, "There are around 76 notified emergency services. Instructions have already been issued not to deny or delay treatment in cases. In case treatment is not available in government hospitals, people can avail it in any private hospital and the government will bear the cost of the treatment."

Meanwhile, the state health department commissioner D Randeep on Friday issued orders suspending Tumakuru District Hospital's gynaecologist Dr Usha A R and three nurses — Yashodha B R, Savita and Divya Bharathi — over the death of the woman and her unborn twins on Thursday. Inquiry against the four will continue and criminal proceedings will be initiated against the accused.

The hospital has also been served a show-cause notice, directing its authorities to respond within 24 hours.

The dead woman's husband has remained untraceable since before the incident. Her six-year-old daughter has been admitted to an orphanage. A fixed deposit of Rs five lakh was made in the girl's name from the state government, which has also assured of taking care of her education.

Sudhakar said: "The police have been trying to trace the family of the woman since the last 36 hours. The state government will take complete responsibility in this case. Irrespective of which state the woman belongs to, she should have been treated at the hospital on humanitarian grounds. This incident has indeed created a mistrust in the entire public health system."

Child rights panel to probe woman's death

Tumakuru: Karnataka State Commission for Protection of Child Rights Chairman Naganna Gowda on Friday said that since the National Commission has also taken serious note of the death of the pregnant woman Kasturi and her twins, after she was denied treatment at a district hospital, a high-level probe will be conducted into the incident.

SC commutes Umesh Reddy's death penalty

New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday commuted the death sentence awarded to BA Umesh alias Umesh Reddy for the rape and murder of a widow in 1998.

The court, while hearing a plea filed by Reddy, observed that he was in solitary confinement in jail for about 10 years which is showing ill effects on his well-being.

"In the instant case, the death sentence was awarded to the appellant in 2006 by the trial court and the mercy petition was finally disposed of by the President on May 12, 2013, which means that the incarceration of the appellant in solitary confinement and segregation from 2006 to 2013 was without the sanction of law and completely opposed to the principles laid down by this court," a three-judge bench headed by Chief Justice U U Lalit said.

"We impose upon him the sentence of life imprisonment with a rider that he shall undergo a minimum sentence of 30 years and if any application for remission is moved on his behalf, the same shall be considered on its own merits only after he has undergone the actual sentence of 30 years," the bench also comprising Justices S Ravindra Bhat and P S Narasimha said.

Crane mows down 19-yr-old girl student

BENGALURU: A 19-year-old Commerce student succumbed to injuries at a private hospital in Whitefield on Thursday, after she was run over by a crane. The victim Noor Fizar met with the accident on Wednesday afternoon while returning home from college near Kannamangala gate. The driver of the crane was unable to see her walking by the roadside, and hit her from behind. She came under the left front wheels.

She was rushed to a hospital in Whitefield. Traffic police arrested the driver Periya Swamy, and seized the crane. The deceased was a resident of Kannamangala. "Rehman Khan, her father, was unable to pay the hospital bill and we did our best to help him," said an officer. A case of causing death by negligence, along with rash and negligent driving, was booked against the driver. ENS

Pvt players coming to India not threat, but opportunity: HAL chief

'Common objective must be to make country leading defence manufacturing hub'

HRITHIK KIRAN BAGADE & NIHAAL TERKATI @Bengaluru

WITH rising concerns around national security, especially cross-border threats, along with the country's bid to achieve indigenisation in manufacturing, India is bullish about developing its homegrown defence potential. According to the Indian Brand Equity Foundation, India is one of the world's biggest defence spenders with a total outlay of Rs 5.25 lakh crore, accounting for 13.31 per cent of the total budget and indicating an increase by Rs 46,970 crore over the budget estimates of 2021-22. These numbers throw open a massive opportunity for several players, including private, global ones, to participate in building the country's strategic capabilities.

HAL CMD CB Ananthakrishnan said, "Private players coming to India is not a challenge, but an opportunity for us. We see the private sector as a collaborator. Today, some buzzwords in our industry are self-reliance (Atmanirbhar Bharat), and Make for India and Make for the World. We are confident that there is enough space for other players as well. The common objective should be to catapult India as a global defence manufacturing hub."

CB Ananthakrishnan, CMD, HAL

"We are keen to complete the transfer, through tender, rather than getting projects on a nomination basis. We are quite comfortable participating in a tender if it is fruitful... Today, the processes are transparent, and interests of private defence companies and the industry will not affect government policy," he told TNIE on the sidelines of a conclave, 'Roadmap for India to become self-reliant in defence and aerospace manufacturing', at GIM 2022.

He shared that HAL has initiated some major projects, like the Medium-Role Helicopter and AMCA. "We wanted to work with the private industry right from the design stage so that the IPR can be developed within the country. If we synergise our efficiencies, along with entrepreneurial efficiencies of the private sector, to be more agile and aggressive, I expect exciting days ahead," he added.

Sharing his experience in India, Vincent Panzera, vice-president, International Supply Chain & Industrial Development at US-based Lockheed Martin, said "There's a rich history between my corporation and Indian industry. In India, there's unparalleled dedication to managing costs, improving quality and upping the technical competence of this industry, by companies and the government. We are very proud of our partnerships with India."

Covid exposed gaps in healthcare: Experts

HRITHIK KIRAN BAGADE @Bengaluru

WHILE experts opine that the most severe phase of Covid is behind us, the two years of the pandemic not only exposed issues in the country's healthcare system, but also unlocked avenues to introduce positive changes to better prepare for unforeseen health emergencies.

At a panel discussion on 'Post-pandemic Shift -- How to prepare better for the next health crisis', at the Global Investors Meet 2022 on Friday, World Health Organisation Chief Scientist Dr Soumya Swaminathan said, "The pandemic exposed vulnerabilities in our system. Very few healthcare systems in the world were able to handle the situation. That speaks of resilience and also highlights the need to have the required supply of essential commodities which can save lives."

Narayana Health Chairman Dr Devi Prasad Shetty said India has done well in controlling the number of Covid deaths, owing to the nature of the disease. "Anywhere in the world, Covid requires only two kinds of treatment. What is the treatment in England? Oxygen and steroids! And that's what made the difference. We drive on a highway, and find a hospital every few kms, where there is oxygen and steroids. Interestingly, most patients were treated in smaller nursing homes, rather than larger hospitals, and we brought down the mortality. However, in Western countries, they didn't have the privilege because of the zoning system where the number of beds is restricted," he added.

He, however, expressed concern over lack of nurses and hoped that the issue would be mitigated soon.

In response, Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar said the government is readying new medical colleges in five districts by 2023, apart from several trauma centres. "The lessons we learnt from Covid is that the future of healthcare should be personalised, predictive, preventive, and curative."

Starbucks co-founder hails K'taka for brand building

UMA KANNAN @Bengaluru

"Nobody has done a better job in brand building than Karnataka. The tourism ministry always goes to trade shows around the world to showcase the splendour of Karnataka," said Starbucks co-founder Zev Siegl.

At a session on 'How can India lead the innovation revolution' at GIM on Friday, Prashanth Prakash, partner, Accel Partners, asked Siegl about brand building, and the latter said the best way to understand the audience is to do focus groups, and lauded Karnataka for its brand building.

"We wanted to make Starbucks an interesting experience where you could source good quality coffee," he said. "Back in 1970, there was no entrepreneurship ecosystem... There can't be a better time than now to become entrepreneurs," he said. In September this year, the coffee giant named Laxman Narasimhan as new CEO.

He said investors should not get trapped by what's hot (such as metaverse and AI). "Investors tend to think that is really cool. But there are lots of other kinds of companies offering SaaS," he said.

On Thursday, Siegl visited Bengaluru's iconic restaurant Vidyarthi Bhavan and had masala dosa and filter coffee. Vidyarthi Bhavan shared on Instagram his note that said, "It is an honour to enjoy your famous food, coffee and warm welcome. I will take this wonderful experience with me back to Seattle."

GIM held amid fears of recession: CM

"THE ground-breaking for the production of hydrogen and ammonia will take place by February or March," Bommai said.

Pointing out that the event was organised under extraordinary circumstances, the CM said though such meets have been organised earlier, this edition was much more important as it was held in the backdrop of fear of recession across the globe. "During such hard times, the Karnataka government has dared to organise this event. This became possible as our industrial policies, forward-looking attitude, talent and human resource are our strengths," the CM said.

Bommai said that despite negative reports about the state's infrastructure, particularly in Bengaluru, no other state can offer the infrastructure which Karnataka is offering. "We have a land bank of 50,000 acres in Hubballi, Dharwad, Mangaluru, Kalaburagi, Ballari, Tumakuru and Mysuru. Airports will be coming up soon in Shivamogga, Vijayapura and Karwar. We are developing national highways stretching across 6,000 km. All these years, Bengaluru was referred to only as an IT hub, but now there is development even on the outskirts. Very soon, Bengaluru will be a major financial hub," Bommai said.

Industries Minister Murugesh Nirani said the government's efforts to attract investments for other parts of the state have been successful, as districts other than Bengaluru have attracted 70 per cent of the investments. He also said that the next edition of GIM will be held in January 2025.

Chaos over receiving Kempegowda Ratha Yatra

V VELAYUDHAM @Malur

CHAOS reigned on the outskirts of Malur in Tyakal hobli when the Nadaprabhu Kempegowda Ratha Yatra, which has been launched by the state government to collect sacred mud, reached Malur taluk.

Two groups of followers – one headed by BJP leader and ticket aspirant Hoodi Vijaykumar and another by former MLC and another aspirant Kodihalli Manjunath Gowda – were waiting to receive the yatra into Malur taluk. There was additional deployment of police. Both groups tried to receive the yatra at the same time, resulting in a chaos in the presence of BJP MP S Muniswamy.

Meanwhile, Gowda took the driver's seat of the vehicle which was carrying the idol, and began driving it. Kumar and his followers tried to stop him. Police had to resort to mild lathicharge to control the situation.

Challengers throw hat in the ring, give Cong new headache

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru

AS elections near, faultlines are showing up in the Congress, with challengers staking claim to party tickets against established candidates, and even sitting MLAs.

Congress MLA Durgappa Hoolgeri is waging a tough battle against former minor irrigation department secretary K Rudraiah, who is trying to unseat him in Lingasugur. Driving around the streets in hot and dusty Lingasugur, Rudraiah told TNIE that he has sensed good support on the ground and also from the Congress leadership. Rudraiah has been visiting the constituency regularly for the past two months and meeting the voters.

MLA Hoolgeri told TNIE that he has confidence in the party high command's decision. He has informed CLP leader Siddaramaiah, PCC chief DK Shivakumar, and AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge about it. "Once the tickets are announced, the issue will be sorted out,'' Hoolgeri said hopefully.

Siddu anti-Hindu, celebrated Tipu Jayanti, says Kateel

MYSURU: State BJP president Nalin Kumar Kateel on Friday accused former chief minister Siddaramaiah of betraying the people of the state by celebrating Tipu Jayanthi. "The issue led to a confrontation causing the death of three persons. During the Siddaramaiah rule, 3,000 farmers committed suicide and 24 Hindu activists were killed," he said. Siddaramaiah did not exhibit the courage to arrest those behind the brutal attack on MLA Tanveer Sait and withdrew cases against PFI, he alleged. Siddaramaiah is anti-Hindu as he wanted to withdraw the cow slaughter Bill and anti-conversion law, he added. He accused JDS senior leader HD Kumaraswamy of playing the caste card to come back to power. "But when he comes to power, he rules the state from five star hotels. Instead of wiping the tears of farmers Kumaraswamy as a chief minister was shedding tears, saying Siddaramaiah was not allowing him to continue in power," Kateel said.

Last time, Durgappa Hoolgeri won by about 5,000 votes. JDS' Bandi Siddu came in second while Manappa Vajjal of the BJP finished third. With six months to go, and the two aspirants locked in battle, their political opponents are watching quietly and waiting for a chance.

This is not the only case. In Chickpet, KGF Babu alias Scrap Babu is challenging RV Devaraj. Even after the leadership was informed, tough action was not taken against Babu. Kalghatagi has also seen a standoff between two powerful candidates, Santosh Lad and Nagaraj Chebbi, which has reached the leadership.

Many other constituencies have more than one strong candidate: Kollegal, where the Congress was drubbed by the BJP in the local municipal elections, has two strong candidates. Asked about challengers in so many seats, PCC Working President Saleem Ahmed said, "In some constituencies, existing leaders are being disturbed. We will call for a meeting of KPCC president DK Shivakumar and CLP leader Siddaramaiah and set things right. We are planning to finalise about 150 tickets by December, and with the ticket announcement, the issue will be sorted out completely.''

Community didn't back Nafees Fazal fully: Krishna

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

FORMER chief minister SM Krishna regretted that former minister in his cabinet Nafees Fazal was not backed fully by her community.

Releasing her biography, 'Breaking Barriers', here on Friday, Krishna praised Fazal as a good colleague who left her mark as a minister when a record of sorts was set with she being the first Muslim woman to become a minister in South India in his cabinet. Krishna made her an MLC and took her into the cabinet as the minister of state for medical education that was, however, cut short.

Former CM SM Krishna releases 'Breaking Barriers' in Bengaluru | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

Even in her book, co-authored with senior journalist Sandhya Mendonca, Fazal mentions the episode in the chapter, 'Gender & Religion @ Work'. She writes, "As for men, it was a different matter. They looked at my gender and religion and judged me; sadly, very few saw my ability and dedication. Whether it was my western style education or the fact that I had a privileged life or that I refuse I did not fit the archetypal Muslim housewife. And that was cause for concern among Muslim politicians of my time. My glamorous image went against the grain of my critics. I was a pawn in the game of politics and due to the manipulation of the Muslim men, my career had a premature death."

Krishna regretted seeking her resignation when allegations were made about her dancing in a hotel. Terming the decision "stupid", he said, "I sent my personal secretary, and without hearing Nafees, I got her resignation from the medical education portfolio... I erred."

He said he realised his error later and reinducted her into the cabinet with the science and technology portfolio.

Former Union minister Margaret Alva asked Fazal not to worry about the brickbats she might receive for her revelations in the book. She said, "I have watched her, advised her, and at times, admonished her. But I have mostly admired her for who she is — an educated, bold, non-conventional Muslim woman."

RENUKACHARYA'S NEPHEW CREMATED; ADGP VISITS SPOT

G SUBHASH CHANDRA @Davanagere

THE body of Chandrashekhar, the nephew of chief minister's political secretary and Honnali MLA MP Renukacharya, was laid to rest at the family's farm at Kunduru village after the last rites were conducted as per the Veerashaiva Lingayat Jangamas tradition on Friday.

Former chief minister BS Yediyurappa, Shivamogga MP BY Raghavendra, Home Minister Araga Jnanendra and others were present during the cremation.

Chandrashekhar, who was missing since October 30, was later found dead under mysterious circumstances in the backseat of a car, which was under water in the Upper Tunga Canal. The driver of the vehicle is missing.

The Davanagere police have registered cases under IPC sections 302, 201, 427 based on the complaint filed by Chandrashekhar's father MP Ramesh. The family alleged that Chandrashekhar was hit on the head severely and murdered. Later, the body was put in the backseat of the car and pushed it into the canal. By the time it was found, the body had badly decomposed, they added.

The police have formed a team led by former inspector of Honnali TV Devaraj to investigate the case. Home Minister Araga Jnanendra said, "Threat calls made to Renukacharya are being traced. The criminals will be tracked down."

BSY demands probe

Former chief minister BS Yediyurappa, who came to Honnali to offer his condolences, said he spoke to Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai and Jnanendra, and requested them to conduct a thorough probe. "Renukacharya had suspected that his nephew had been kidnapped, and soon after, his body was found," he said.

Autopsy report in 2-3 days: ADGP

ADGP Alok Kumar, who visited Honnali, said that all technical evidence has been collected and the autopsy report will come in a day or two, after which, the investigation will be intensified.

He said Chandrashekhar's mobile phone was switched off at 12.06 am on Sunday, and his car was last traced at 11.58 pm on Sunday. The car was moving around 100 kmph, he added. "We are collecting call detail records. Both Davanagere and Shivamogga SPs have joined the probe. It is premature to comment on the investigation," he said after visiting the spot where the incident took place.

Infighting in Cong, JDS will help BJP in polls: Kateel

ENS @Mysuru

GEARING up for the 2023 Assembly elections, the BJP government has expedited inquiries into alleged corruption cases against Siddaramaiah when he was the chief minister, said state BJP president Nalin Kumar Kateel at Srirangapatna on Friday.

Taking part in the Sankalp Yatra, he said the probe into the Arkavathy denotification case too has started and Siddaramaiah will disappear from politics once the probe is completed.

The fight between Congress Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah and KPCC president DK Shiva Kumar has escalated that will lead to the destruction of Congress. "Both Shivakumar and AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge are unhappy with Siddaramaiah as he got Kharge and G Parameshwar defeated to see that a Dalit does not become a chief minister," he alleged.

Both Congress and JDS will be emptied out by February as many leaders will desert the two parties to join BJP, he said, and clarified that the saffron party did not invite anyone, but they are joining of their own volition. It is unfortunate that Siddaramaiah, being a former chief minister, is struggling to find a constituency to contest the elections, he said.

Congress, which had earlier said it will not take back leaders who have switched over to BJP, has now extended the invitation to them to return to the party-fold, he said. Differences within Congress and JDS are a blessing for BJP, he added. He said BJP, which has opened the account in Mandya district with the victory of minister KC Narayana Gowda in the by-election has set a target of winning three to four seats in the district.

Madras HC gives nod to RSS march

Permission granted for holding event at 44 places except 6, including Coimbatore, Pollachi

R SIVAKUMAR @Chennai

THE Madras High Court on Friday permitted the Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS) to take out route marches at 44 of 50 places in Tamil Nadu, for which permission was sought, on November 6 (Sunday) subject to certain conditions.

Disposing of all the contempt petitions filed against police, other than the ones related to the six places, Justice GK Ilanthiraiyan imposed 11 conditions for holding the event in a peaceful manner. The procession and public meetings could be held only within compounded premises, the judge said.

Police had earlier told the HC that the event can be permitted in 23 places if the organisers are willing to hold the event indoors and it can't be allowed in 24 places. "The procession and public meetings should be conducted in compounded premises such as ground or stadium. While proceeding to conduct procession and public meeting, participants shall go by their respective vehicles without causing any hindrance to the general public and traffic," the judge said. No singing of songs or speaking ill on any individuals, caste, or religion; no talk or expression of anything in favour of banned organizations; refraining from indulging in acts of disturbing sovereignty and integrity of the country; not carrying stick, lathi or weapon that may cause injury to anyone; and arranging for CCTV cameras were among the conditions imposed by the court on Friday.

The court rejected permission for the march in Coimbatore city, Mettupalayam, and Pollachi (Coimbatore district), Palladam (Tiruppur), Arumanai and Nagercoil (Kanniyakumari district) since they are considered 'very sensitive' places.

Court rejects cops' sealed intel report

Referring to sealed cover intelligence report, the judge said all the FIRs are old and the reasons stated in the report cannot be accepted. Mere pendency of FIRs against an organization cannot be a ground to reject the request made by the petitioners, the judge said

Stones thrown at Naidu's roadshow

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Vijayawada

THE chief security officer (CSO) of TDP supremo and former Andhra Pradhes chief minister N Chandrababu Naidu reportedly sustained a minor injury after an unidentified miscreant allegedly tried to pelt stones at the former chief minister's convoy during his roadshow at Nandigama in NTR district on Friday evening.

The CSO, Madhu Babu, was immediately given first aid. Following the incident, tension prevailed in the region.

According to sources, the miscreant threw at least two stones at Naidu, who was standing on a bus during his roadshow, Badude Badudu. Naidu escaped the alleged attack, but the CSO, who was standing behind him, was hurt. Condemning the incident, Naidu vented his ire on police for the security lapse.

When The New Indian Express contacted, police officials were tight-lipped on the incident. At a public meeting in Nandigama, the TDP chief lashed out at YSRC activists and likened them to goons. He asked Chief Minister YS Jagan Mohan Reddy not to play 'Pulivendula politics' in Nanidgama.

Stating that he is not afraid of such cowardly acts, Naidu asserted he will not rest until YSRC is dethroned.

Husband acquitted in snake bite 'murder' case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Udupi

THE Second Additional District and Sessions Court in Udupi has acquitted 43-year-old Dr Suresh Prabhu and six others accused of killing the former's wife near Hebri in Udupi district in 2010 by injecting her with snake venom and trying to pass it off as an accidental death.

The victim, Bhagirathi, was aged 32 at the time of her death in 2010. The couple had a daughter who was eight years old at the time of Bhagirathi's death.

Suresh was accused of conniving with six others to hatch a conspiracy to kill Bhagirathi. According to the police, Suresh was not on good terms with his wife.

Suresh, hailing from Hebri and working as an associate professor at Government Medical College in Hassan, was married to Bhagirathi for 10 years.

Suresh had told police that he was travelling with his wife from Hassan to Hebri. At a place called Tenkola near Belanje village, their car had a flat tyre. As it was night, Suresh had told police that he was changing the tyre, while his wife went to the side of the road to attend nature's call.

Suresh had claimed he heard his wife scream and rushed to find that she had been bitten by some poisonous creature on her left sole. He carried her back to the car, tied a string above the bite and took her to the nearest nursing home. Doctors at a nursing home in Hebri had directed him to take her to District Government Hospital in Udupi where she was declared dead. However, the brother of Bhagirathi, NV Kumar, had filed a complaint with the police accusing Suresh of killing his sister.

On Friday, the judge passed an order acquitting all the seven following the failure of the prosecution to prove their argument with proper evidence.

Girl, aged 4, succumbs to sexual assault, burns

DINDIGUL: A 31-year-old man and his wife were arrested in Dindigul on Friday for murder and offences under POCSO Act after a four-year-old girl, sexually assaulted by the man and tortured by them, died at Government Rajaji Hospital in Madurai. The girl's parents are residents of Namakkal district. The victim was their only child and they used to leave her with Malliga, their neighbour, while leaving for work. Fifteen days ago, Malliga's sister Kirthiga (23) and her husband Rajeshkumar, who visited Malliga's house, befriended the child. The suspects were childless and they spent a lot of time playing with the girl. They asked the child's parents if they could take the child to their village and spend 10 days with her. The parents agreed. However, the happiness didn't last long after they reached Sengulathupatti in Dindigul district. Sources said the couple was frustrated with the child not obeying their every word. "The couple inflicted burn injuries on the child and tortured her. TIME TO REMOVE GREY AREAS IN GOVERNOR'S PLEASURE DOCTRINE

The frequent run-ins between governors and state governments have revived the demand for redefining the role of governors in general and the 'pleasure doctrine' in particular. Governments of at least three states have complained about governor overreach. Former West Bengal Governor Jagdeep Dhankar took on the state government almost daily before becoming vice president. Governors of many states have since upped the ante against their governments. Tamil Nadu and Kerala governors have been especially aggressive in acting independently. The governments, run by opposition parties, plan to petition the President of India against them.

The Constitution and the Supreme Court, through its numerous decisions, have made it clear that governors have to exercise their functions on the aid and advice of the council of ministers headed by the chief minister. There are, however, grey areas that provide discretionary powers to the governor. This is where some governors operate, much to the chagrin of the elected governments. For example, when a CM appears to have lost the majority, the governor can decide when to summon the House for the trial of strength. There is no time frame for such summoning. Similarly, the matter of consent to the bills passed by the House is a governor's discretion. The governor can also withhold assent to a bill indefinitely. The SC has emphasised in a series of landmark judgements that the governor has to function on the CM's advice. Shamsher Singh (1974) and Nabam Rebia (2016) are such judgements. Nabam Rebia went to the extent of saying that the Constitution does not give the governor a 'general' discretionary power. It said the governor was bound by the advice of the council of ministers. Mahabir Prasad (1969) also examined the governor's pleasure and ruled that the governor's pleasure is actually the government's will.

Union governments have been aware of the grey areas and have tried to resolve the confusion. Atal Bihari Vajpayee set up the National Commission to Review the Working of the Constitution. The Congress government brought in the Punchhi (2007) and Sarkaria (1983) commissions to deal with the issue. Punchhi recommended deleting the 'doctrine of pleasure' from the Constitution. Kerala Governor Arif Mohammad Khan's recent words and actions have again brought the doctrine of pleasure and the governor's discretionary powers into focus. It is time for the Union government and the SC to settle this issue.

RBI RATES MUST REFLECT DOMESTIC PRIORITIES

This week was all about interest rates. Global central banking decisions have never been as synchronised as now, but what's unsettling is the uneven commentary of individual policymakers. The US Federal Reserve delivered its widely-expected 75 bps rate hike but dashed hopes of a potential slowdown in rate increases. In a U-turn, it argued that the rate level was going to be higher than its September estimates. Twisting the dagger, it reasoned that it was premature even to discuss a rate pause and that such conversations were simply unthinkable. Hours later, the Bank of England harped a different tune from the other side of the Atlantic. While it matched the Fed's 75 bps move, its governor confirmed that policy rates could go up less than market expectations. Ditto with Australia, whose central bank went straight into action mode, having slowed down with a 25 bps hike, despite inflation running wild.

Notwithstanding the sharp and successive rate hikes, inflation remains a menace throughout the world. Central banks are mid-way to achieving their key responsibility area—price stability—which is why some believe that the full effects of the policy rates should be allowed to first feed through into the broader economy before proceeding further. Interest rates operate with a lag, so they argue that continuing with further harsh doses will only bleed the sick. Like other countries, estimates show Indian inflation to likely ease by next year, which means the pace of hikes may warrant a relook.

As RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das defended the central bank's decisions a few days ago, tightening any sooner than in May would have upset the economic recovery process. By that logic, given the global slowdown and recessionary fears, and as one of the Monetary Policy Committee members suggested, it's time to slow down, if not pause, to first take stock of the situation. More so should headline inflation stay below the expected 6% next fiscal, and as FY24 growth estimates continue to slide by the second, it warrants an accommodative policy. As it is, banks are yet to absorb the 190 bps policy rate hike, and there's unevenness among private and public sector banks' fresh lending rates, with only the former's crossing past the pre-pandemic level. RBI should chart a course of its own, as it has been till now, rather than matching its global peers.

QUICK TAKE

DON'T BE LIBERAL GIVING MARKS

State boards must reassess their class XII marking systems seeing how the Common University Entrance Test impacted undergraduate admissions at Delhi University this year. CBSE students with high CUET scores bagged most admissions. State board students fared poorly. In contrast, last year, Kerala board students sprang a surprise by cornering seats in prestigious colleges with near-100% class XII marks. It raised questions about whether the board's marking process was unusually liberal. But this year, they hardly figured in the top lists. Despite glitches, CUET proves it is the answer when diverse marking methods lead to unequal admission opportunities for students.

Khan will use street power and tap the sympathy wave that this assassination attempt has generated to call for elections in the next few months rather than wait for 2023

IMRAN KHAN AND THE PRICE ONE PAYS FOR POPULISM

NEENA GOPAL

Foreign policy analyst and author

First, a barrage of fire from an AK-47 had everyone atop the container standing alongside Imran Khan, ducking for cover. And then, a shot from a pistol, a scuffle and a chase after the shooter who, within hours of being apprehended, admits in a confessional statement to police that he had acted alone even as reports swirled of a third shooter who had gotten away.

While questions remain on how bullets shot from street level could injure Imran and his cohorts perched on a container, Thursday night's failed assassination attempt at the massive political rally in Wazirabad in the heart of Pakistan's most populous state of Punjab, against the hugely popular cricketer-politician Imran Khan, was simply waiting to happen.

Was it a warning shot meant to wound but not kill the man who has refused to go quietly, unwilling to swallow his pride at the unceremonious ouster from the office of prime minister barely seven months ago?

And the people's anger against the army? The attack by a mob on the Lahore Corps Commander's home, hours after Khan was rushed to Shaukat Khanum hospital—founded in his mother's name—with bullet wounds to his legs that will leave him unable to walk for weeks, is unprecedented in a country where the ubiquitous army-intelligence establishment has always played a behind-the-scenes role, pulling down governments at will. The people's acquiescence to the army's meddling in politics is almost a given. Until now.

Is the ordinary Pakistani's patience at an end? Has Pakistan reached a pivotal moment in its history? The growing popular anger at the targeting of politicians who challenge the army's writ, and the establishment's open meddling, installing pliant leaders who do their bidding while jailing those who don't, silencing critics such as popular journalist and Imran sympathiser Arshad Sharif who was gunned down in Kenya, cannot be tamped down. Has Pakistan reached a tipping point?

Khan's move to position himself as an alternative to political heavyweights like the Bhuttos and Sharifs, whom he maligned with impunity while inveigling himself into the good books of the military establishment, was a bid to reinvent himself from the 'Kaptaan' of the world-beating cricket team to the 'Kaptaan' of Pakistan.

His Teflon-like ability to ward off damaging allegations that he is as corrupt as his political rivals has boosted his already soaring popularity among the young and the restless, who have refused to blame him for his inept governance that precipitated the country's economic distress.

The establishment has struck back. Charges that his controversial wife, Bushra Bibi, was behind his illegal appropriation of expensive gifts from heads of state have led to a case for his disqualification from active politics. But Khan, in keeping up a tirade against the army, has remained stridently vocal about an American-led conspiracy to remove him from office, citing diplomatic messages from Pakistan's envoy to Washington. His anti-American, anti-establishment stance, plus his espousal of Islamist groups like Daesh and the Taliban and the Tehreek-e-Taliban, which has a growing footprint in his home state of Khyber Pakhtunkhwa, has, however, led to unease in Army GHQ, Rawalpindi, as much as Washington. The establishment has attempted to counter him with leaks of his conversations with confidantes on how to use the 'cypher' from Washington to further the conspiracy narrative. Meetings with serving army chief Gen Qamar Jawed Bajwa and Inter-Services Intelligence chief Lt Gen Nadeem Ahmad Anjum where he is heard offering Gen Bajwa an extension as army chief as a quid pro quo for a return to political office saw the ISI chief air the story at a first of its kind press conference.

While the military-establishment using the media to air its unease publicly is certainly new, political parties' using street power to pressure the army is not.

Then-President Gen Pervez Musharraf faced the wrath of lawyers when he tried to replace the then-chief justice in 2007. It was the street power of another long march by Imran Khan that brought the Nawaz Sharif government to its knees. And a united joint opposition, made up of the Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz (PML-N), the Pakistan People's Party (PPP) as well as the powerful Maulana Fazlur Rehman faction, now calling itself the People's Democratic Movement, that challenged the army-backed Imran Khan, even as the anti-army Nawaz and his daughter Maryam ceded space to the pro-army Shehbaz Sharif.

The fiery Benazir Bhutto, similarly, was prodded into talking to her bete noire Gen Musharraf at the behest of Washington, which wanted a return to civilian rule. That the establishment did not see her as a trustworthy partner was amply clear. The firing on Imran's convoy was an eerie reprise of the failed attempt against Benazir in Karachi in October 2007 and her assassination two months later, as she was heading out of the very park where Pakistan's first prime minister Liaquat Ali Khan was assassinated in 1951. Imran Khan's uncharitable comments about Benazir then, saying she 'only had herself to blame', must come back to haunt him.

Either way, Khan's on again-off again relationship with the establishment came to a head only after his famed falling out with the army chief over the appointment of a successor to ISI chief Lt Gen Faiz Hameed and a successor to the army chief himself. Neither Gen Bajwa nor the serving head of the Inter-Services Intelligence, Lt Gen Anjum, deeply upset at being dubbed 'traitors' by Khan, are willing to do a deal.

But with Gen Bajwa's term coming to a close by November end, Khan will use street power and tap the sympathy wave that this assassination attempt has generated to call for fresh elections in the next few months rather than wait for 2023. Any election now will only work to his advantage, allowing him to call the shots and anoint the new army chief. While the army is said to be examining the efficacy of imposing martial law, detaining Khan could create more unrest, jeopardising key IMF loans needed to steady the economy.

In the weeks that followed Nawaz's second coming in 1997, one remembers how the political parvenu Imran Khan was drawing diehard Nawaz supporters into his inner circle. Today, although former PPP stalwarts like Shah Mahmood Qureshi are standing by his side, sources say, Qureshi approached Bilawal Bhutto Zardari only days ago, asking for an honourable re-entry. Similarly, many former PML-N top guns-turned Khan supporters have been knocking on the doors of Nawaz's Avenfield home in London.

The bullets haven't worked. Will splitting the PTI down the middle be the only option for the harried establishment?

BOT DID YOU JUST SAY IN PIDGIN

PRATIK KANJILAL

Editor of The India Cable

SPEAKEASY

Engineers at Facebook have announced a breakthrough in machine translation: a hack for translating spoken Hokkien, a dialect of Chinese with no written script, into English in real time. Oral tongues are more slippery than written text, and even the tiniest step towards translating one is a giant leap towards the Babelfish—the "small, yellow and leech-like" creature that is slipped into the ear in The Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy for instant comprehension across languages and cultures.

Facebook has open-sourced its work in the belief that other researchers will help take it forward. Altruism has nothing to do with it. Instant, bi-directional oral translation would be the killer feature of the Metaverse, since the others are, individually, old hat. Mark Zuckerberg is selling his virtual space as the future, and has rebranded his enterprise to reflect the name. But to old-timers on the net, it looks like bits and pieces of past worlds cobbled together, shined up and made commerce-ready.

In 1992, Neal Stephenson's novel Snow Crash suggested that the grey internet of the time, written in flat HTML—typically viewed in the Mosaic browser, or from a UNIX command line—would one day give way to a visually rich metaverse in which avatars interact with bots in a digital geography featuring gatherings like in the real world. The digital gathering is even older than the visual, browser-based internet, and dates back to 'Multi-User Dungeons' (a nod to Dungeons and Dragons), role-playing games which ran on command line clients. These were worlds built with words, like fantasy literature, in which bots hosted meets for people dialling in from the world over. The most hospitable bots were bartenders serving virtual drinks. Scarily, they doubled as bouncers.

Fast-forward to Linden Lab's Second Life, a world built by its inhabitants two decades ago. Its roots lie in role-playing games and like them, it was conceived as an escape mechanism for people tired of the limitations of brick and mortar. But it also ventured into virtual commerce with its own currency, the Linden dollar, which was used by entrepreneurs in Second Life to sell each other digital artefacts like clothes, accessories and homes. Second Life was hot because it had ventured into commerce, but interest flagged because the products were purely digital. You could only buy a digital shirt there, not an Arrow shirt.

Now, Mark Zuckerberg's Metaverse is adding the secret sauce of mass market commerce. Using virtual and augmented reality technology developed over the last decade, and taking advantage of ever-cheaper storage and bandwidth, he is promoting a world which is exactly the opposite of earlier role-playing realities, including Second Life. His Metaverse is not a portal to escape into an alternate reality. It is a world where we do digitally the very things we do physically, including meeting in a boardroom, watching a movie with friends, or going to a store with the family to try out and buy a real shirt, while erasing distance. Under any impetus which disincentivises urbanisation—pollution, climate change, contagious diseases, the soaring cost of urban living—Metaverse will boom as an alternative place in which to transact our lives.

The reality is less scary: the bots were speaking an English pidgin ... bots were free to develop a dialect more comfortable for machines

However, the scope of virtual communities is limited by the language of communication. The internet, which was distinct enough to count as a community in the 20th century (that explains the now-quaint term 'netizen') was originally American, because the phone networks on which it ran were almost exclusively American. Europe, which is almost as multilingual as South Asia, emerged as a distinct language space much later, followed by China, the nations speaking the Middle Eastern languages, and our own region. Though the internet has exploded, such speech bubbles remain, and Google Translate has its delightful absurdities. The mode of communication is another crucial barrier: you type on the classical internet, while you speak and use body language in a metaverse. AI-based translating machines are trained by feeding them scads of text, original and translated. The quality of their work is gauged by comparing their output with that of human translators. But in the case of an oral language like Hokkien, there are no texts to compare.

Facebook's engineers have used a cheat, first converting oral Hokkien to Mandarin script. A similar strategy could be used on Indo-European languages, which can be represented in Roman script with diacritics. But it's still a cheat which will not make the dream of science fiction, the instant translation of alien tongues, come true. If you meet an Aldebaran chicken on a dark and stormy night and it says, "Take me to your leader", you won't understand a thing, even with your Babelfish in your ear.

Facebook has a rough history with AI. A few years ago, the press had sensationally reported that its experimental bots, which were learning to bargain online, had gone rogue and developed a secret language, and had to be shut down for fear of a machine apocalypse. The reality is less scary: the bots were speaking an English pidgin. AI uses incentives to nudge in the direction of desired behaviour, and FB's programmers had neglected to incentivise the use of formal English. The bots were free to develop a dialect more comfortable for machines, and humans thought it was bizarre.

But whether it's about communicating with pidgin-speaking bots or each other in a multiverse, humans may be better off not understanding everything. Grey areas keep the peace. In this, The Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy is reliable and cautionary: "Meanwhile, the poor Babelfish, by effectively removing all barriers to communication between different races and cultures, has caused more and bloodier wars than anything else in the history of creation." As the poet sang in Four Quartets, "Humankind cannot bear very much reality."

Attempt on Imran's life

Reminiscent of Benazir Bhutto's 2007 assassination, the attempt on Imran Khan must be condemned and not taken for granted. What the Pakistan government should do now is throw overboard terrorism, part ways with unreliable China and join hands with India in order to redeem its lopsided economy.

I-T probe reveals AAP sent ₹20 cr to Guj through hawala

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@ Ahmedabad

AN income tax investigation has revealed that ₹20 crore was sent to Gujarat through hawala last month, sources said, adding it has also been revealed that at least ₹50 lakh was sent daily to various districts of the state.

AAP candidate from Gujarat's Bardoli Assembly seat, Rajendra Solanki, came under the radar of the police and sleuths of the Income Tax Department after ₹20 lakh in cash was found from him. The I-T Department started its investigation after the AAP candidate accepted that he received ₹20 lakh in cash through angadia or hawala.

Reports say the income tax investigation has revealed that so far ₹20 crore have come through angadia in the state. An investigation is on at four angadia offices. The accounts of three firms are yet to be checked, though I-T officials said the amount meant for election expenses that came through hawala could be higher.

Investigating officers said money from Punjab and Delhi was coming directly to Ahmedabad through angadia. From Delhi, AAP's Aditya Jain and Sudhir Thakur were allegedly responsible for routing the money to Gujarat.

"As we investigated the ₹20 lakh loot case (involving Rajendra Solanki), we found that there is a big money trail behind it. A further investigation by the police found that ₹8 crore came to Gujarat at various times from Delhi of which 108 entries have been received," said an official. "We also found that money came to Gujarat at various angadia places," the official added.

Officials said during the investigation initiated by the Income Tax Department, another fact came to light that "Saurav Parashar, who identified Bardoli AAP's Rajendra Solanki driver, initially withheld some information but later revealed that he is working with AAP's technical team and is a graduate in economics. He previously worked for some other political parties, officials said.

According to I-T officials, Ashok Garg, who is associated with AAP, sent money through angadia from Delhi. "As much as ₹50 lakh was sent daily. The funding was done through angadia. The unaccounted amount was sent to Himmatnagar, Gandhidham, Dahod, Vadodara, Valsad, Gandhinagar, and Ahmedabad. An amount of ₹30 lakh was recovered from a businessman identified as Mukesh Tiwari in Ahmedabad earlier in the same link," said an official.

Earlier the state police claimed they had recovered a hawala sheet mentioning ₹8 crore from an angdiya firm owned by Ashok Garg. Surat Rural Superintendent of Police Hitesh Joysar said: "Kapil Garg of Punjab used angdiya (courier) channel to route money in Gujarat. He sent money through Rohit Puglia, owner of KM Angadia of Delhi, and Suresh Hansaji Kumbar of Ganpati Angadia of Delhi.

"This Delhi angdiya sent money to Mahendra Soma Angadia and Chhagan Bhai Jayanti Bhai Angadia in Gujarat. This angdiya firm sent money to various places such as Dahod, Valsad, Vadodara, and Bardoli," said a police officer.

"Further investigation is on," said the officer.

Fittest should become judges not collegium selected: Rijiju

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

Union Law Minister Kiren Rijiju on Friday said that the present Supreme Court collegium system through which judges are appointed is "opaque". He made these remarks while speaking in New Delhi on "Reforming Judiciary" at event organised by a renowned media organisation.

The "fittest" persons should be appointed as judges and not someone whom the collegium knows, he said.

"I am not critical of the judiciary or the judges...I am not happy with the present system of the Supreme Court collegium. No system is perfect. We have to always strive and work towards a better system," the minister said.

The system has to be accountable and transparent, he said, adding, "If it is opaque, then who else will speak up against it if not the concerned minister."

He was only "reflecting the thinking" of the people including the lawyer community and even some judges, he said.

"The fittest should be appointed and not someone whom the collegium knows," the minister said.

Plea seeks CBI probe into Morbi tragedy

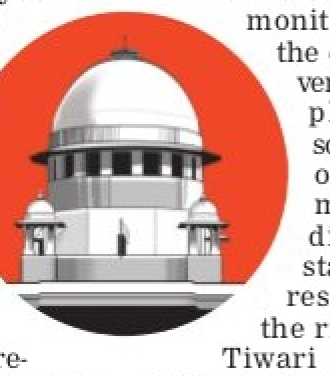
SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

AMIDST the collapse of century old Gujarat's Morbi bridge over Machchuu River which claimed lives of at least 135 people, another plea has been filed in SC seeking CBI or court monitored probe into the incident that occurred on October 30, 2022. Aggrieved by the measly sum of ₹2 lakhs compensation announced by the state, plea also seeks for grant of a dignified sum of money as compensation to the next of kin of the deceased.

It was argued in the plea that a suo motu anonymous FIR has been registered in the matter despite the clear culpability of the Morbi Municipality officials and the Oreva Group, i.e., the Contractor-company.

"Despite the clear culpability of the Morbi Municipality, the FIR did not mention anything about the negligence of the state officials. Officials of the Morbi Municipality are clearly culpable for the tragedy for their gross negligence in permitting the Oreva Group (having no relevant experience) not only to maintain the bridge but also to reopen it to the public in breach of the time periods stipulated under the Contract," the plea added.

It was also stated that the petitioner had no faith in the state carrying out investigation in a fair manner as Assembly Elections are scheduled in the State of Gujarat in the first week of December 2022.



Interestingly, a bench headed by CJI UU Lalit on Tuesday had directed for listing a plea filed by Advocate Vishal Tiwari also seeking court monitored probe into the collapse for November 14. Tiwari's plea had also sought for review of old bridges and monuments in India by directing states to take the responsibility for the risk assessment.

Tiwari in his plea has also stated that such apart from the failure of maintaining and administering the supervision, the authorities have also failed in controlling the tourists who were there to visit the bridge, it had been reported that more than 500 people were on the bridge during the snap of wire which is absolutely over limit yet there were no supervision to control and regulate such crowd although knowing the limited capacity of the bridge.

States should move SC against guvs: Achary

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

AS Dravida Munnetra Kazhagam (DMK) and its allies are readying a memorandum to be presented to President Droupadi Murmu seeking the removal of Tamil Nadu governor R N Ravi, Constitutional experts say that aggrieved states should approach the Supreme Court to end the constitutional impasse created by Governors in several Opposition-ruled states.

Speaking to this newspaper, Constitutional expert and former Lok Sabha Secretary General PDT Achary said that the state's move to submit a joint petition to the President doesn't serve any purpose. "There is no precedence of Governors being removed on the demand of Opposition ruled states. Instead of approaching the President, the states should have approached the Supreme Court on grounds that the Governor is acting against the Constitution," he said. For a long time, the Tamil Nadu government has been at loggerheads with the Governor for not sending the NEET Exemption Bill to the President after being passed twice in the state Assembly and a host of other issues.

A memorandum signed by a majority of ruling DMK MPs and its allies alleged that the Governor is acting against the Constitution. "It impedes and obstructs a democratically elected government from serving the people, which is ex-facie unconstitutional," read the petition.

PDT Achary

R N Ravi

Arif Mohammad Khan

In Kerala too, the constant sparring between the Kerala government and Governor Arif Mohammad Khan has become uglier with the Governor demanding the resignation of nine Vice Chancellors and the sacking of ministers from the state cabinet. Another point of contention is that Khan is yet to sign two bills — Lok Ayukta and University Amendment Bills passed by the state assembly. Constitutional experts call it an unprecedented situation as the Governor has exceeded his powers.

Achary points out that the Governor's refusal of signing the Bills and demanding the sacking of state ministers can be challenged in the Supreme Court.

"Let the SC come out with a judgment and settle it once and for all. The state governments have enough grounds to challenge the Governor's actions in the court," he says.

In addition to the issue of V-C appointments, Khan had threatened to sack state ministers for the remarks made by them. He had said, "the ministers ceased to enjoy my pleasure". However, Achary said that the Governor cannot dismiss state ministers unless recommended by the Chief Minister. For that, Article 154, Article 163, and 164 have to be applied together, he points out.

According to Article 164 of the Indian Constitution, "The CM shall be appointed by the governor and the other ministers shall be appointed by the governor on the advice of the chief minister, and the ministers shall hold office during the pleasure of the governor".

The state government can approach the Supreme Court as the Governor acted against the Constitution, he says. "The Governor has no authority to withdraw pleasure without taking the advice of the CM. It is unconstitutional," says Achary.

The stand-off will lead to a constitutional crisis when the Governor fails to discharge his duties and function in accordance with his position, says Achary.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Central Public Work Department has planned a training programme on 'Vastu Shastra Philosophy, Importance and use in Building Design' for their architects and engineers. The online training session on the traditional Indian system of architecture based on ancient texts is scheduled on November 17.

For this one-day programme, 67 eligible officials have been nominated from across states by their offices. According to the department, besides nominated participants, other officers may also join the workshop for which adequate information has already been circulated among all concerned officials. "On completion of the training, successful participants will also be provided digital certificates. Railways goes paperless, zone chiefs asked to adopt digital office working

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

THE Indian Railways has finally gone paperless, with all its wings going digital from November 1. Even all type of correspondences in its various departments are being done through e-filing on the e-office system.

On Friday, on the occasion of Special Swachchata campaign, a media interaction was held with officials from 16 ministries, including railway. Informing about the Railways' paperless initiative, VK Tripathi, chairman of the Railway Board, said that he has directed the general managers of all zones to adopt the digital mode of office working.

Special Swachhta Campaign-2.0 was held in the country during 02-31 October 2022.

During the campaign, Tripathi said, the Railways carried out mass mechanised cleaning at railway stations across the country. "Not only this, the railway has redressed more than 2.45 lakh public grievances and simplified 55 rules in order to make them easy to passengers. By removing files and scraps, we have created 20,349 sq feet spaces," Tripathi said.

He said that all 7,337 railway stations have now undergone with mechanised cleaning system with arrangements for safe disposals of plastics and other waste materials.

"So far, more than 1.86 lakh physical files and around 3000 e-files have been reviewed as part of campaign," he added.

Working on the philosophy of the Special Swachhtha Campaign, the Railways conducted more than 9000 cleanliness campaigns covering all stations, offices and workshops.

Besides this, the Railways earned more than ₹33 crore from disposal of scraps and other useless files and materials during the Swachchata Campaign. "As part of cleanliness drive, the Railways has made a sculpture at Bangalore station using empty plastic bottles giving a message to passengers not to throw the water bottles at undesignated places. Prime Minister Narendra Modi had recently liked it and tweeted about this," he said.

- Himachal district with 10 Assembly seats a saffron stronghold
- Kejriwal announces party's CM face in Gujarat

On eve of PM's Mandi visit, BJP grapples with rebels

HARPREET BAJWA @Mandi

HIMACHAL Pradesh Chief Minister Jai Ram Thakur fondly calls Mandi as "my Mandi" as he comes from the Seraj constituency in the district. Another constituency in the district Dharampur is represented by State Jal Shakti Minister Mahender Singh Thakur. The two seats are considered 'safe' for the BJP for the polls due in the state on November 12.

The district with 10 Assembly segments is a BJP stronghold. However, in the other eight seats, it is a tough call for the ruling party which in the 2017 polls, had all the seats in its kitty.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi is scheduled to address a rally in the Sundernagar Assembly segment on November 5. In Sundernagar, the BJP is facing a rebellion from the state's former minister Roop Singh's son Abhishek Thakur who is contesting against the official candidate of the saffron party, Rajesh Jamwal, a close aide of the CM.

Chief Minister Thakur is a five-time MLA. His battle cry in the election is: 'Yeh Seraj ke samman ki ladaai hai (this is a battle for the honour of Seraj).' The 10 Assembly segments are: Mandi, Seraj, Balh, Sundernagar, Dharampur, Darang, Karsog, Nachan, and Sarkaghat.

Modi to visit Sundernagar today

PM Modi is scheduled to address a rally in the Sundernagar Assembly segment on Saturday. The BJP faces a rebellion here from the state's former minister Roop Singh's son Abhishek Thakur who is fighting against the candidate of the saffron party, Rajesh Jamwal, a close aide of the CM

BJP rebels are playing spoilsport in three seats — Mandi, Nachan and Sundernagar.

The main issue in the region is equitable land compensation in highway projects, which is affecting around five Assembly segments.

The Mandi seat was the stronghold of veteran Congress leader and former Union minister late Sukh Ram and is currently represented by his son Anil Sharma. Sharma is the BJP MLA and a former minister in the Jai Ram Thakur cabinet, but resigned. Anil did not campaign for the BJP in the 2019 parliamentary polls in Mandi as his son Ashray was contesting on the Congress ticket against the then sitting BJP MP Ramswaroop Sharma.

Before joining the saffron camp, Anil was in the Congress. The BJP has again shown confidence in him, giving him the party ticket, as he is the sitting MLA. However, he is pitted against BJP rebel Parveen Sharma and Congress candidate Champa Thakur, the daughter of Congress leader and former state cabinet minister Kaul Singh Thakur.

The district has a 44% upper caste population and both Anil and Parveen are from the same community. Congress' Champa Thakur is a Rajput and the community comprises about 30% of the population.

"Chief Minister Thakur's charisma will prevail and our party will win all 10 seats. I have been instrumental in the facilitation of development works in my constituency," says BJP MLA Sharma.

His opponents, however, describe him as someone "missing in action."

Isudan Gadhvi: Former TV anchor takes AAP stage

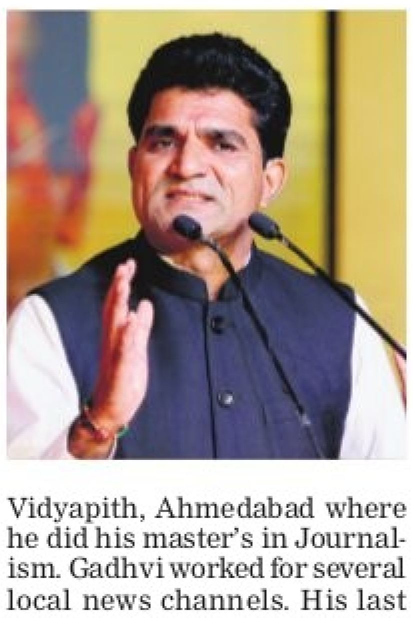
DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@ Ahmedabad

IN line with its Punjab experiment, where AAP announced its CM's face a few days before the Assembly polls earlier this year, the party on Friday announced former TV anchor and journalist Isudan Gadhvi as its chief ministerial candidate for next month's Gujarat polls.

Gadhvi, 40, belongs to an OBC community. He received 73% votes in a poll conducted by the party to choose its CM candidate, AAP's national convener Arvind Kejriwal said at a presser in Ahmedabad. Gadhvi was pitted against AAP's state unit chief Gopal Italia, one of the prominent leaders in the Patidar quota agitation.

Belonging to a poor farmer family, the CM candidate comes from Piplia village of Jamkhambhalia taluka in Devbhumi Dwarka district. He completed his basic education in Jamnagar.

He recalls that an incident during his college days in 2003 made him join journalism. "A few journalists had arrived at my village. They met the college authorities and posed some tough questions," he says. Isudan thought it was a good idea to be a journalist since they could ask good questions.



He took admission in Gujarat Vidyapith, Ahmedabad where he did his master's in Journalism. Gadhvi worked for several local news channels. His last stint was in VTV, one of the prominent Gujarati channels, where his show Mahamanthan drew wide attention.

He joined AAP as a full-time politician last year. He went on to become AAP's national joint secretary. Isudan Gadhvi is married and has two children.

In December 2021, around 500 AAP workers, led by leaders like Isudan Gadhvi, Gopal Italia, Praveen Ram, Nikhil Sawani, reached the BJP head office in Kamalam. The police had to lathi-charge and Isudan was charged with molestation while drunk.

Addressing the mediaafter the announcement, Gadhvi broke down while speaking about his family and promised a corruption-free government if AAP was voted to power.

1ST CONG LIST OUT, SHAH CHAIRS BJP MEET TO SHORTLIST CANDIDATES

AS political action intensifies in Gujarat, the Congress on Friday night released the first list of 43 candidates for Gujarat Assembly polls. The list does not include the name of any sitting MLA. The BJP too held a meeting in Gandhinagar on Friday for the second day in presence of Union Home Minister Amit Shah for selection of candidates. Prime Minister Narendra Modi will also visit the state on Sunday to step up BJP's campaign for the elections due to be held next month. The meeting of the BJP's election committee for Gujarat was held to shortlist the candidates for each Assembly constituency. The names of these shortlisted candidates will then be sent to the BJP's parliamentary board in Delhi for final selection. "Patidar leader and former Congress working president Hardik Patel's ticket may be finalised despite internal rift in the BJP for Viramgam seat," a source said.

Congress Yatra route upsets AIUDF's Ajmal

Assam MP Maulana Badruddin Ajmal said the Congress' state leaders cannot speak up against the BJP as they regularly receive money from Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma. He said only a united Opposition can defeat BJP, but none in Assam Congress has the gut to raise voice against the ruling party. "They are all paid leaders. They get money on a monthly basis from the CM. Therefore, it is obvious that they will not speak up against the BJP," Ajmal, chief of minority-based All India United Democratic Front (AIUDF), said. He was livid that the Congress launched the state version of its "Bharat Jodo Yatra" from his Dhubri constituency and not upper Assam, the BJP's stronghold.

Gharial sightings in Brahmaputra thrill CM

Gharial (Gavialis gangeticus) has not disappeared from the waters of Assam as thought. Two sightings this year have got Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma thrilled. Sharing a video, he tweeted, "Great news for all wildlifers: Gharial was thought to be extinct in the waters of Assam, especially river Brahmaputra. This new sighting becomes important in view of another sighting in March this year in Kaziranga at Silghat." Listed in Schedule 1 of Wildlife Protection Act, 1972 as critically endangered, this reptile species is also known as gavial or the fish-eating crocodile. It is among the longest of all living crocodilians.

₹5,000 cr for facelift of 1,000 schools

State-run schools in Assam will soon get a facelift. After a recent visit to five such schools in Guwahati, including one where he studied, Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma had said the government would spend ` 5,000 crore over the next few years to improve the infrastructure of 1,000 state-run schools. The state's government schools had started in small buildings and later additional classrooms were added. The chief minister wants classrooms in one building so that the remaining areas can be used for other activities. Recently, he had a Twitter war with his Delhi counterpart Arvind Kejriwal over the quality of education.

Bridge collapse: Morbi civic chief suspended, hosp head shunted out

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@Ahmedabad

FIVE days after the collapse of the suspension bridge at Morbi, the Chief Officer of Morbi Municipality, Sandeepsinh Zala, was suspended on Friday. Zala had admitted that the bridge was reopened without a fitness certificate. Also, according to officials, there were many allegations of mismanagement against Morbi Civil Hospital due to which hospital Superintendent Dr PK Dudhrejia was relieved from duties. Dean of medical college Dr Niraj Bishvav was given the charge.

"The state urban development department has suspended the chief officer of Morbi Municipality, Sandipsinh Zala," District Collector GT Pandya said. Resident Additional Collector of Morbi has been given additional charge until further orders, he said.

After the British-era suspension bridge built on the Machchhu river collapsed on Sunday, killing 135 people, a probe was launched on November 2 into the role of officials and contracters. The bridge was handed over to Oreva Group by the Morbi municipality earlier this year for maintenance and operations for a period of 15 years. Zala was questioned by the police for several hours, and investigators said that the private contractors engaged by Oreva did not conduct any "scientific assessment of the structural stability" of the bridge during its recent repair and renovation. Zala blamed the company for reopening the bridge without notifying the municipality.

The police have also found that the contractor hired by Oreva to do the repairs was technically unqualified.

Nine persons — two managers of Oreva Group, two contractors hired by it, two ticket booking clerks and three security guards posted at the bridge — have been arrested so far.

Punjab leader shot dead during protest

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Chandigarh

PUNJAB politician Sudhir Suri, a leader of Shiv Sena (Taksali), was on Friday shot dead by a shopkeeper while he was sitting on a dharna outside a temple in Amritsar. Following the incident, a Punjab Bandh call has been given by the party for Saturday.

The incident took place outside Gopal Mandir on Majitha Road where Suri and other leaders were protesting against the temple authorities over a dispute. The assailant fired more than three shots at Suri, who was rushed to the hospital where he succumbed to injuries. He was on the hit list of several gangsters for a long time and was given security by the Punjab Police. The accused was caught by the public and handed over to the police.

Confirming the incident, Punjab DGP Gaurav Yadav said that Sandeep Singh, who had a garment shop near Gopal Mandir, fired shots with his licensed .32 bore weapon after a scuffle.

ED attaches jailed separatist leader's house in Srinagar

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

THE Enforcement Directorate (ED) has provisionally attached the house of jailed separatist leader Shabir Ahmad Shah in Srinagar under provisions of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA), 2002. The house, worth ₹21.80 lakh, is located at Botshah Colony of Sanat Nagar.

The ED had initiated a money laundering probe against Shah on the basis of an FIR filed on May 30, 2017 against Hafiz Muhammad Saeed and others under various sections of the UAPA.

Shah was arrested on July 25, 2017 by the ED from Srinagar and is presently lodged at Tihar Jail in New Delhi.

According to the ED, during the investigation, it came to light that Shah was involved in the activities of fuelling unrest in Kashmir by way of organising stone pelting, protests and other subversive activities.

It added that the probe under PMLA revealed that Shah was involved in getting funds from the militant organisation, Hizbul Mujahideen, and other militant outfits based in Pakistan as well as from the Pakistani establishment through hawala and other means, and that these funds were used for supporting militant activities.

"During the course of investigation, an immovable property worth ₹21.80 lakh owned in the name of Shabir Shah was identified and the same has been provisionally attached under PMLA," the ED statement said.

Earlier, the NIA had attached the residential house of jailed woman separatist leader Asiya Andrabi in Soura area of downtown Srinagar.

I-T, ED raid on 2 Cong MLAs close to Soren

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

IN a major joint crackdown, the Enforcement Directorate and Income Tax Department conducted raids at the premises of Congress MLAs Kumar Jaimangal and Pradeep Yadav, who are said to be close to CM Hemant Soren. The two agencies simultaneously carried raids at multiple locations in Jharkhand and West Bengal on Friday.

Jaimangal, who is into coal trade is under probe for tax evasion, while Yadav is said to own properties disproportionate to his income. The vehicle used by the I-T officials to raid Jaimangal's premises in Bokaro carried a BJP sticker. But when it was flashed by the media, the sticker was removed.

Reacting against the move, Soren said that the raids were conducted at the BJP's behest.

BJP slams Nitish over Urdu row, says don't create 'Pakistan in Bihar'

RAMASHANKAR @Patna

A day after Chief Minister Nitish Kumar slammed the Union government led by PM Narendra Modi for ignoring poor states like Bihar, the BJP on Friday alleged that the JD(U) leader is trying to create a "Pakistan in Bihar". Launching a frontal attack on Nitish, who targeted the BJP government at the Centre for not giving special status to poor states, including Bihar, the party's OBC Morcha national general secretary Nikhil Anand said that Nitish is trying to appoint Urdu teachers in every government school.

"Don't create Pakistan in Bihar. If you are more concerned, then go to Pakistan," Anand, who comes from an OBC community, said. He added that the government on Thursday provided appointment letters to Urdu translators and stenographers to appease members of the minority community.

Anand further said, "Days are not far when Urdu translators will be appointed in every police station. Moreover, why is there a need of appointing Urdu translators in Bihar Assembly?" He alleged that the lives of Dalits, OBCs and EBCs have been ruined in Muslim-dominated districts in the state. "Nitish is doing nothing but implementing the agenda of 'mahagathbandhan' led by the RJD," he stated.

On Thursday, Nitish handed over appointment letters to 200 Urdu translators and stenographers in the presence of Deputy Chief Minister Tejashwi Prasad Yadav. Speaking on the occasion, Nitish said that the central government is doing little work for development of poor states. "Instead, the central government is doing 'prachar prasar' (propaganda). Is anything worthwhile happening in poor states?," Nitish said without taking any names.

Earlier, Tejashwi and state Finance Minister Vijay Kumar Chaudhary had lauded Nitish's commitment to maintain communal harmony in the state. Both the leaders had said that it was because of Nitish's endeavours that no major incident of communal violence has been reported in Bihar.

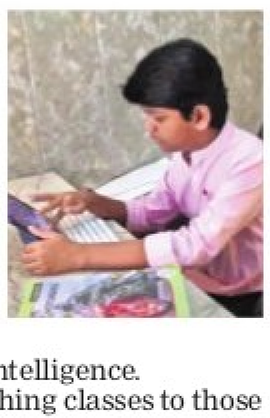
The Opposition BJP is sore with Nitish ever since he snapped ties with the saffron party in August and formed the grand alliance government in the state with the RJD and other parties.

11-YR-OLD WITH HIGH IQ GETS 2-YEAR LIFT TO STUDY IN CLASS 9

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

YASHVARDHAN Singh, an 11-year-old child prodigy from Kanpur, was on Friday granted special permission for admission to Class 9 in the current academic session by the Uttar Pradesh Board of Secondary Education. Yashvardhan is currently a student of Class 7.

The special permission came in the wake of his high intelligence quotient (IQ), the Board said. Yashvardhan's IQ was tested officially and found to be 129.



Yashvardhan's father had submitted an application to UP Basic Education authorities seeking direct admission for his son to Class 9. During the process, Yashvardhan had to take many tests to assess his IQ scores and analyse his mental ability, general knowledge and memory.

Yashvardhan and his family had met Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath in September. The CM had praised him for his superior intelligence.

Yashvardhan has been offering coaching classes to those preparing for civil services examinations. The minimum age for appearing in the exam is 21 years.

"There was extraordinary talent in Yash from the beginning. Now, he has started teaching the aspirants of civil services," his father Ansuman Singh said.

Yashvardhan will appear for Class 10 Board exam in 2024 at the age of 13. However, as per rules, a student needs to be at least 14 years of age to appear in the Class 10 exam.

TOP COURT RULING

Stay lifted on U'khand reservation for women

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday lifted a stay imposed by the Uttarakhand High Court on the state government's 2006 order, which provided 30% horizontal reservation to women candidates of Uttarakhand origin in public employment.

The stay was lifted by a bench of justices S Abdul Nazeer and V Ramasubramanian against the HC's August 24 ruling following an appeal by the state government.

The state argued that the HC failed to consider the fact that the the government order hadn't been challenged for around 15 years. It added that the intention of the legislation was to provide employment to women domiciled in the state.

The HC's stay order had come following a challenge to the state's 2001 and 2006 orders and also an advertisement dated August 10, 2021 related to Uttarakhand Combined State Civil/Upper Subordinate Service Exam, 2021. The advert had listed 224 vacancies for various posts in 31 departments. While staying the order, the HC bench of Chief Justice Vipin Sanghi and Justice Ramesh Chandra Khuble had said the 30% reservation could be construed for women candidates irrespective of domicile or place of residence.

Jurists this reporter spoke to were divided on the SC's decision. Senior advocate Vikas Singh welcomed it, saying, "I'm always in favour of horizontal reservation for women... Others states can follow suit. This is something that should universally apply." However, senior advocate Sanjoy Ghose felt the domicile filter was regressive and against national unity. "What if other states reserve vacancies and exclude people from Uttarkhand from applying? This would amount to a backdoor means of bringing in local reservation."

HIT BY 4 BULLETS ON RIGHT LEG, CLAIMS IMRAN

ISLAMABAD

Supporters of Imran Khan throw stones toward police on Friday during a protest to condemn the attack on their leader | AP

FORMER Pakistan premier Imran Khan on Friday claimed that Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif, Interior Minister Rana Sanaullah and Major General Faisal Naseer were part of the sinister plot to assassinate him in the same way former Punjab governor Salman Taseer was killed in 2011 by a religious extremist.

Imran, 70, suffered a bullet injury in the right leg when two gunmen fired a volley of bullets at him and others mounting on a container-mounted truck in the Wazirabad area of Punjab province, where he was leading a protest march against the Shehbaz Sharif government.

Addressing the nation from the Shaukat Imranum Hospital here, in his first address since the attack on him, Imran said he had made a video of four other individuals who were part of the larger conspiracy to kill him.

"Four people plotted to kill me. I made a video and named those people and have stashed it abroad," he said, adding that it would be released in case something untoward happens to him. The cricketer-turned-politician said he received information about this plot from "insiders".

"How did I find out? Insiders told me. The day before Wazirabad, they made the plan to kill me as they saw the number of people increasing using the script of religious extremism," he asserted.

He said Interior Minister Rana Sanaullah, Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif and Major General Naseer plotted to kill him.Interestingly, when he mentioned Maj Gen Naseer's name, it was muted by television channels.

In his address, Imran said he was hit by four bullets on his right leg during the attack a day earlier, when he was leading a political march in Pakistan's Punjab province.

Dr Faisal Sultan, who is treating Imran, said x-rays of Imran's right leg showed that his tibia was damaged and in fact fractured.

Meanwhile, angry supporters of Imran took to the streets across Pakistan after Friday prayers to protest against the attack on their leader. Irate protesters blocked the busy Murree Road, the artery of Rawalpindi, which leads to Islamabad. They also clashed with police at the Faizabad interchange, which connects the twin cities of Rawalpindi and Islamabad. Separately, protests were witnessed outside the Governor House in Lahore, with television footage showing protesters trying to scale the gates of the sprawling premises.

The former prime minister launched his anti-government march on October 28 from Lahore with the aim to reach Islamabad on November 4 to hold a rally for forcing the government to announce fresh elections. Agencies

Imran vows to continue march

Imran Khan is determined to continue his political struggle to press the government to call for an early election, his party has said. "I will not bow down, but stay determined to bring Haq'eeqi Azadi (real freedom) for my fellow Pakistanis," the PTI's official Twitter handle quoted Irman as saying

InterGlobe loss widens to ₹1,583 cr on fuel cost, forex

Airline claims that for the quarter ending September 2022, its net loss came at ₹3,82 crore excluding foreign exchange loss

ARSHAD KHAN @New Delhi

HIT by higher fuel prices and foreign exchange losses, InterGlobe Aviation, the operator of India's largest airline IndiGo, on Friday reported an increase in net loss for the second quarter. IndiGo's loss widened to ₹1,583 crore for the July-September quarter (Q2FY23), from ₹1,436 crore in the year-ago quarter.

IndiGo claims that for the quarter ending September 2022, it's net loss came at ₹3,82 crore excluding foreign exchange loss. It pegs its foreign exchange loss at₹1,201 crore.

Company's CEO, Pieter Elbers said, "This is the second consecutive quarter wherein we have operated at higher than pre-covid capacity. In spite of a seasonally weak quarter, we witnessed relatively good yields with strong demand across the network."

Elbers added, "However, fuel prices and exchange rates have adversely impacted our financial performance."

NUMBER CRUNCHING

	Q2FY23	Q2FY22
Net Loss	₹1583 cr	₹1436 cr
Revenue from operations	₹12, 498 cr	₹5,609 cr
Fuel Cost	₹6258 cr	₹1989 cr
Yield (INR/Km)	₹5.07	₹4.19

Total income for the quarter ended September 2022 was ₹12,852 crore, an increase of 121.6% over the same period last year.

For the quarter, passenger ticket revenues were ₹11,110 crore, an increase of 135.6%. IndiGo's yield, rupees it earn per kilometre (INR/km), also improved from ₹4.19 in Q2 of last financial year to ₹5.07 in Q2FY23.

IndiGo's total expenses doubled in one year to ₹14,436 crore in the second quarter of the financial year 2022-23. The airline's fuel expenses increased from ₹1,989 crore in Q2FY22 to ₹6,258 crore in Q2FY23 as the retail jet fuel prices witnessed multiple hikes this year.

To meet the required demand as the industry is facing supply chain issues, Indigo said that it is looking to wet lease planes. "With an industry challenged by global supply chain disruptions, we are working on various counter measures to accommodate this strong demand," the company CEO said.

As of 30th September 2022, IndiGo said that it had a fleet of 279 aircraft, a net decrease of 3 passenger aircraft during the quarter.

IndiGo said that for third quarter of the financial year 2022-2023 capacity in terms of ASKs (available seat kilometres) is expected to increase by nearly 25% as compared to the third quarter of fiscal year 2022.

Forex reserves gain most in 1 year, rupee up 47 paise Vs USD

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

INDIA'S forex reserves surged to $531.081 billion in the week ending October 28, 2022.

This is the biggest weekly gain in more than a year. As per RBI's statistical data, India's foreign exchange reserve grew by $6.56 billion in the week ending October 28, 2022.

According to the weekly statistical supplement released by the RBI, the gain can be attributed to a rise in the Foreign Currency Assets (FCA), which is a major component of the overall reserves. This gain is significant given the reserves have depleted by over $111 billion from record high of $642.45 billion (September 3, 2021). It touched its lowest point on the week ending October 21, 2022, to $524.52 billion. About two-third of the fall in forex reserves so far this fiscal was due to valuation changes on appreciation of US dollar and higher US bond yield.

Rupee appreciated 47 paise to close at 82.41 (provisional) against the USD on Friday. Strengthening of local currency came after the dollar index retreated from its elevated levels as euro, pound and especially Chinese yuan showed recovery. Dollar index, which gauges its strength against a basket of six currencies, fell 0.34% on Friday to 112.54. At the interbank foreign exchange market, the rupee opened at 82.85 and finally settled at 82.41 against the American currency. On Thursday, the rupee had closed 8 paise lower at 82.88. "Euro and Pound too recovered on Friday from intraday lows as broader dollar retraced against its major crosses," said Gaurang Somaiya, Forex & Bullion Analyst, Motilal Oswal Financial Services.

B2B START-UP UDAAN FIRES 350 EMPLOYEES IN COST-CUTTING BID

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

BUSINESS-TO-BUSINESS (B2B) ecommerce start-up Udaan, which recently raised $120 million in convertible notes and debt, has fired about 350 on-roll employees. This is the second round of layoffs, as the start-up previously fired about 200 employees.

Udaan confirmed the layoffs and said, "Over the last few years, we have taken various steps towards building udaan as a world-class institution that will last beyond our lifetime. We believe in efficiency as a driver of profitable growth and will continue to refine our cost structures and models."

The company's spokesperson added, "In this direction, we have taken numerous steps, with enhanced digital capabilities, to achieve efficiency and scale, become more agile and remain competitive in the marketplace."

"As we move forward in our journey towards making udaan a profitable company, the efficiency enhancement drive and the evolution in business model has created some redundancies in the system, with some roles no longer required."

The start-up, which is backed by Tencent and Lightspeed Ventures, is eyeing to go public in 12-18 months.

Founded in 2016, Udaan has operations across categories including lifestyle, electronics, home & kitchen, staples, fruits and vegetables, FMCG, pharma, toys and general merchandise. Apart from on-roll employees, it has many contract workers.

These layoffs come at a time when start-ups are bracing for a long funding winter. Unacademy founder Gaurav Munjal tweeted that winter will get worse.

"Get to profitability asap. And then grow from there. Stop all unnecessary spends. Focus on building great Products and organic Traction Channels," he said.

ASIANOMICS

ECONOMY SET TO SLOW SHARPLY

Japan's economy is expected to have slowed markedly in the third quarter as global recession risks hurt external demand while rising inflation and a weak yen's impact on imported prices forced consumers to keep their wallets shut. GDP data on November 15, will likely show an annualised growth rate of 1.1% in July-Septerber, sharply slower from the 3.5% expansion in Q2. The significant slowdown in part highlights the harsh impact on Japan from the yen's slide to 32-year lows against the dollar, which has exacerbated the cost-of-living strains by further lifting the price of everything from fuel to food items. Prime Minister Fumio Kishida's government is stepping up support for households to try to ease the effects of cost-push inflation, with a 29 trillion yen ($196.09 billion) in extra spending in the budget. Capital expenditure probably underpinned third quarter growth, is forecast to have risen 2.1% in July-September, versus 2% increase in the previous quarter, reflecting improved performance at big exporters and others thanks to the earnings boost from a weak yen.

PHILIPPINE

TO ADDRESS SUPPLY BOTTLENECKS TO TAME INFLATION

The Philippines government will help ensure inflation will be on target-consistent path over the medium term by addressing supply shocks and bottlenecks, Finance Secretary Benjamin Diokno said on Friday. Philippine inflation accelerated in October to its fastest pace in nearly 14 years at 7.7%, driven by price gains in key commodity groups, including food and energy. "To help address food and energy inflation, we are intensifying efforts to improve agricultural production and reduce power costs," Diokno said in a statement. "Measures are also being implemented to help the agriculture sector rebound from the damages caused by recent typhoons." Among measures being considered, he said was the extension of an executive order reducing tariffs on pork, rice, corn, and coal. Meanwhile, the Philippine central bank said on Friday it was ready to take all further monetary policy actions needed to bring inflation back within target, after data showed the headline rate reaching its fastest pace in nearly 14 years in October.

CHINA

STOCKS NOTCH TRILLION-DOLLAR GAIN

CHINESE markets soared and the yuan rose on Friday, with about a trillion dollars added to the value of Chinese stocks in a week, as rumours and news reports fed hopes for twin relief in US-China tension and China's tough Covid rules. The Hang Seng surged 5.3% and notched its biggest weekly gain in 11 years. The Shanghai Composite rose 2.4% for a 5.3% weekly gain, the largest in over two years, and China-sensitive assets around the world rose sharply. Bloomberg News reported initial US inspections of audit papers at US-listed Chinese companies – a long-running point of regulatory tension and risk – finished ahead of time, raising hopes that the US officials were satisfied. Unsubstantiated social media posts flagging an aim to relax Covid rules in March have also driven optimism all week and seemed to get new momentum on Friday. Gains were broad, defying a downbeat mood in global markets weighed by the prospect of US interest rates rising further than previously expected. Property and tech shares led the way. Shares in online giants Alibaba and JD.com each rose more than 10% and the Hang Seng Tech index rose 7.5%. Property manager Country Garden Services rose 15% and an index of mainland developers rose 9%.

Ola Electric remains top EV seller, sells 20,000 units in Oct

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

OLA ELECTRIC became the first electric two-wheeler manufacturer to report sales of 20,000 units in a single month in October 2022.

Ola Electric, which sells electric scooters S1 Pro and S1, said it recorded a four-fold growth over daily run rate during the Navratras, and ten times on Vijayadashami.

Data available with the government's Vahan portal also shows that Ola Electric was the market leader in e2W segment for the second straight month after hitting a low in August 2022. Data on Vahan shows Ola Electric sold 15,065 units in October, up nearly 50% from 9,875 units in September.

Ola said it clocked over 60% growth sequentially, while the overall e2W industry grew by about 30%. As per Vahan portal, which tracks vehicle registrations, e2W sales stood at 75,294 units in October as against 52,975 units sold in September. After Ola Electric, Okinawa Autotech came in as the second-biggest player in the segment as Vahan portal showed the Gurugram-based EV maker sold 13,144 units in October. Okinawa, however, claims its retail sales stood at 17,531 units last month. Vahan portal doesn't track vehicle registrations in select locations and hence there is a mismatch in its numbers and company sales. Most firms report vehicle dispatches from factories to retail outlet as sales. Greaves Electric Mobility's Ampere sold 9,173 EVs last month and was at 3rd position. The segment's oldest player Hero Electric sold 8,348 units while Ather Energy sales came at 7,087 units, as per Vahan data. Owing to continuous surge in demand, most players are investing heavily to expand their manufacturing capacity.

Ola CEO Bhavish Aggarwal on Friday said they crossed production of 1,00,000 vehicle units in November 2022 and the company aims to take it to 10,00,000 units by November 2023 and 1,00,00,000 by 2024.

Deadline to join EPF pension extended, SC holds ₹15k salary threshold invalid

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

IN a relief to employees, the Supreme Court on Friday quashed the limit of ₹15,000 monthly salary for joining pension fund scheme and also said the employees who have not exercised their option to join the Employee Pension Scheme must be given a further chance to do so.

A bench of CJI UU Lalit, Justices Aniruddha Bose and Sudhanshu Dhulia upheld the provisions of the Employees Pension (Amendment) Scheme, 2014, as "legal and valid" but also read down certain provisions of the scheme concerning the employees. The court said that exempted and unexempted establishments will have to be treated equally for the purpose of EPS. The court said that lack of clarity regarding cut-off date due to various HC rulings, resulted in failure of employees to exercise the option within the cut-off date of September 1, 2014. Before the amendment, every employee who became a member of EPF scheme, 1952 (EPS) as of November 16, 1995, could avail EPS and the maximum pensionable salary cap was ₹6500. The 2014 scheme had introduced changes in paragraph 11(3) of EPS, 1952 and inserted paragraph 11(4) of EPS scheme. Paragraph 11(3) had raised the cap from ₹6500 to ₹15000. As per paragraph 11(4), only employees who were existing EPS members as of September 1, 2014, could continue towards the pension fund in accordance with their salaries. They were also given six months to opt for the new pension regime. An additional obligation was also created for the members whose salary exceeded ₹15,000 to contribute at the rate of 1.6% of the salary.

Exercising its power under Article 142, the court removed the cut-off date of September 1, 2014. It also found that the additional requirement to contribute 1.16% of the salary was ultra vires (not as per law) but suspended the implementation of this part for six months.

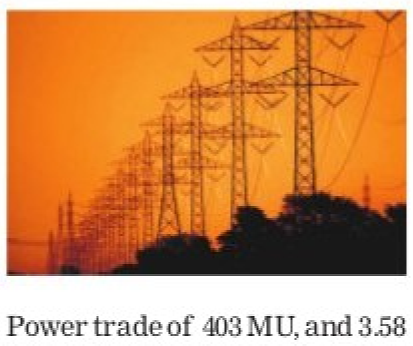
IEX trade volume drops 13% YoY in October 2022

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE total trade volume of the Indian Energy Exchange (IEX) dropped by 13% to 7,972 million units (MU) in October 2022, due to the high volume base of last year.



The trade volume is lower by 2% on Month-on-Month (MoM) basis due to reduced REC (Renewable Energy Certificates) trading. According to the Indian Energy Exchange (IEX), it achieved 7,972 MU volume in October 2022, including green Power trade of 403 MU, and 3.58 lakh RECs (equivalent to 358 MU).

"Improved supply of domestic coal led to easing of supply side constraints, resulting in decline of prices on IEX. The average clearing price in the Day-ahead market was ₹3.83 in October, which was lower by 32% on MoM basis and 52% year-on-year (YoY) basis," said IEX in a statement.

It said further correction in prices due to improvement in coal availability and reduction in demand due to onset of winters will provide opportunity for cost optimisation by Discoms and Open Access consumers, resulting in increased volumes on the exchange.

The energy consumption at 115 BU during October 2022, increased 1% on YoY basis, however, it declined 10% on MoM basis. The Real-Time Electricity Market achieved 2265 MU volume during the month, registering a 13% YoY growth. The highest single-day volume of 124 MU was achieved on October 6, 2022.

"The consistent growth of the real-time electricity market is an indication of growing reliance of distribution utilities and industries to achieve power demand supply balancing in real-time in most efficient manner," said IEX in a statement.

KANE & ABLE: BIG BOYS OF ICC EVENTS

NZ first team to book semifinal berth; clear communication & no knee-jerk reactions few reasons behind success

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Chennai

WINNERS. Pool stage. Super Six. Group stage. Semifinal. Semifinal. Semifinal. Super 8. Final. Super 8. Semifinal. Super 8. Group. Super 10. Final. Semifinal. Group. Final. Winners. Final. Semifinal* (last most recent, asterisk mark ongoing event).

If ever there was a cricketing equivalent of Germany's performances at the football World Cup, it ought to be New Zealand. The Black Caps, beginning from the year 2000, when they won the event that ultimately became the Champions Trophy, are different gravy in ICC events. They seldom have a blow out and almost always reach the business end of the competition. Their record becomes greater if you consider the last seven ICC events — a decent sample size — beginning with the 50-over World Cup they co-hosted in 2015.

So, what makes them such a gun team in conditions as varied as Dubai in 2021 to Perth and Melbourne in 2022? "Trying to be really clear with your communication," is the reply captain Kane Wiliamson offered when New Zealand's modern ICC record was put to him in the post-match press conference. "Often, it's very difficult to know exactly how a pitch is going to play until you start playing, and then trying to be really clear with your communication, whether it's as batters or a bowling unit. Make sure you are getting around each other to report back and either identify what a competitive total is and what options for some of your better ones to take. Then same with the ball really. "It's one of the challenges of tournament cricket, but it certainly makes it enjoyable to do to try to make those adjustments. Therefore, the value of the contribution isn't always what it might seem. So it's really trying to commit to what you're trying to do as a team and be nice and clear on how that looks. Then from there just really trying to make those adjustments as you go." When does that communication happen? "The two that are out there are the two that are out there, and then you might get a drink that comes out, and they might (sic), how's it going? Someone on the sideline might be curious. So you report back what you feel is happening. Then sometimes it is your team blueprint, where do we need to be? How do we get there? And doing your best to do it."

More importantly, they are very, very good against teams they are expected to beat. They also tend to beat at least one team that's ranked above them at that point in time. When you combine both of those traits, what you get is a consistent outfit, a machine that doesn't suffer too many off days in a single event.

The key to that are well-defined roles, knowing what all 11 players are capable of doing and avoiding knee-jerk reactions. A simple example is Williamson's position in the team. Even if he's the skipper, there was — still is — a growing clamour to remove him. Yet, the team management have stuck with him. While there are merits to remove him — he's not the quickest of starters in this format — that well-defined role clarity means they know what they are getting from the No 3.

He alluded to that when talking about his innings against Ireland — after being 30 off 23, he finished with 61 off 35 — that helped his side reach 185. Considering Finn Allen had provided a fast start, was he tempted to send Glenn Phillips above him to keep the momentum? "I think it was just trying to make adjustments to the pitch and guys coming in and playing their role. Pitches vary a lot, so I think making those assessments when you're out there and reporting back so when guys come in. I thought Glenn played beautifully again to change a bit of momentum. I thought the partnerships throughout were good to get what was a very competitive total on that wicket."

It also helps that they cover all phase bowling. The seam and swing of Trent Boult and Tim Southee, the spin of Mitchell Santner, the leg-spin of Ish Sodhi and the heat of Lockie Ferguson. Williamson touched on Santner's effectiveness. The southpaw is never mentioned when talking about the premier spinners in the global game which is a shame considering his numbers. In fact, in this World Cup, he's the joint leading wicket-taker among spinners who began their campaign in the Super 12 stage (eight with Shadab Khan). In a microcosm, Santner embodies New Zealand. Consistently consistent, smart adjustments and expert reading of the game.

There is one small difference between New Zealand in cricket World Cups and Germany in football World Cups. Germany win a lot of titles while the Kiwis lose one of the last knock-out games. Can they turn it around this time?

Update on WIPL after T20 WC: Binny

GOMESH S @Chennai

BCCI President Roger Binny on Friday said that the slot for the West Zone representative in the all India senior selection committee for the men and the final details regarding the inaugural Women's IPL are to be discussed when the board meets after the ongoing T20 World Cup in Australia.

Hours after the BCCI announced the squads for the New Zealand and Bangladesh tour on Monday, a few players had expressed their disappointments indirectly on social media. While chief selector Chetan Sharma had said he wasn't sure if it was his last selection meeting, the absence of a representative from West Zone became a topic of discussion.

Addressing the media after the Tamil Nadu Cricket Association's 90th annual day celebration in Chennai, Binny said the issue of not having a West Zone representative in the selection committee would be discussed in the upcoming BCCI meeting. "In the next meeting we will sit down and discuss this. After the World Cup finishes, we will have the meeting," Binny said.

The first edition of the Women's IPL was approved at the BCCI AGM on October 18. Some of the franchises have already started scouting to express their interest and to make sure they are ready as and when things move forward. However, the details as to how the BCCI are going to proceed further with the teams and the player selections haven't been finalised yet.

"Everything is at place. We have just not yet finalised how things are going to be. That (how the teams will be divided) is also being discussed. We have not yet decided on it. It will have to come up in the next meeting," he said.

On domestic contracts for cricketers, one of the key promises made by previous president Sourav Ganguly, Binny said it's too soon to touch anything. "We will take this slowly. In the next year or so, we want to look at the types of pitches we have, the structures we can put in the system. We will sit down and discuss. We will get in players who have played a lot for the country, who have played a lot for the states. Some of them have played for their states for years without playing for the country. (We will) get them all together, come up with some plan and then take it forward from there," he said.

When asked the thing that he wants to tackle as the BCCI president, he said it was to understand the injury dynamics of the players. "If you come across the last six months to a year, the cricketers who are injured, why they are getting injured? What's the reason? We can't stop it. We can find out whether it's (because of) overload, whether people are not fit, or the exercises need to be change. A lot of people are getting injured during training. That is not a good thing. We haven't got down to it yet. We will know in six months and when we try and put it into our system, the injuries will come down," he said.

WTA Finals: Heartbreak for Gauff, easy for Swiatek

AFP @Fort Worth

WORLD No 1 Iga Swiatek beat Caroline Garcia 6-3, 6-2 to clinch a semifinal spot at the WTA Finals on Thursday, but Garcia remained in the hunt for a place in the knockout stage.

France's Garcia can still advance with a victory on Saturday against Daria Kasatkina, who eliminated Coco Gauff from semifinal contention with a 7-6 (6), 6-3 victory over the error-strewn fourth-ranked American.

Poland's Swiatek saved five of the six break points she faced and broke Garcia four times on the way to a victory that avenged her three-set loss to the French player in the quarterfinals at Warsaw in July. Swiatek, the reigning US and French Open champion who put together a 37-match win streak earlier this year, is aiming to finish out 2022 on a high note.

Garcia had a game plan against her, but said it's not always easy to implement against the Pole.

"The thing is, you have to take some time away from her," Garcia said. "Try to be aggressive, to push her out of her comfort zone. But most of the time, she does it better than you. She's really strong, really solid, doesn't give you a lot of unforced errors. "As soon as she gets a little bit more space or more of an angle, she makes you feel you're slower, playing bad."

Swiatek, who hasn't dropped a set in two round-robin matches, said she's feeling no pressure as she caps a year that has so far featured eight titles. "It's the last tournament of the season, so I have kind of nothing to lose," the 21-year-old said. "I don't have to worry what I'm going to do next. "For sure, I'm giving it 100%, physically and mentally."

Carlos retires in Paris Masters quarterfinals

PARIS: World No 1 Carlos Alcaraz retired from his Paris Masters quarterfinal against Holger Rune on Friday due to injury while trailing by a set. Rune won the first 6-3 before Alcaraz quit early in the second set tie-break, having received treatment on his abdominal area at the previous changeover.

Late on Thursday, Novak Djokovic continued his title defence, reaching the quarterfinals. Djokovic, seeking a record-extending seventh Bercy title this week, thrashed Russian Karen Khachanov 6-4, 6-1.

A feat to remember for Ghosal & Co

AGENCIES @Cheongju (South Korea)

THE Indian men's team, led by the seasoned Saurav Ghosal, clinched the country's first-ever gold at the Asian Squash Team Championships with a 2-0 win over Kuwait in the final here on Friday. Ghosal sealed the victory after Ramit Tandon had given India the lead with a fluent straight-games win over Ali Aramezi (11-5, 11-7, 11-4). Ghosal then made short work of Ammar Altamimi 11-9, 11-2, 11-3 to give the team an unassailable lead.

The third match between Abhay Singh and Falah Mohammad was not played.

Having finished with the silver medal on two previous occasions, the men, seeded one, justified their billing and emerged victorious with a dominant performance. They topped Pool A with an all-win record, recording victories over Qatar, Pakistan, Kuwait, South Korea, and Chinese Taipei 3-0 before edging out Malaysia 2-1 in the semifinal.

The women's team claimed bronze after losing 1-2 to Malaysia in the semi-finals. They finished second in Pool B with two wins and a loss. The women beat Iran and Singapore 3-0 before going down 0-3 to Hong Kong in the preliminary phase.

FIFA asks WC-bound teams to 'focus on football'

AFP @Lausanne

FIFA has called on the teams participating in the controversial Qatar World Cup to "focus on football" and stop "handing out moral lessons" in a letter revealed by Sky News on Thursday.

Qatar has faced criticism for its human rights record on the treatment of foreign workers on major infrastructure projects for the World Cup, on women's rights and LGBTQ rights.

Homosexuality is illegal in the Gulf state and captains from a number of leading European countries, including England, France and Germany, will wear armbands in rainbow colours with the message "One Love" in an anti-discrimination campaign. Last week, the Australian national team condemned the "suffering" of migrant workers.

"Please let's now focus on the football!" FIFA president Gianni Infantino and secretary general Fatma Samoura said in a letter sent to all 32 World Cup teams, confirmed to AFP by world football's governing body. "We know football does not live in a vacuum and we are equally aware that there are many challenges and difficulties of a political nature all around the world."

Mouth-watering matches in EPL this weekend

AFP @London

ARSENAL face a stiff test of their Premier League title credentials when they travel to Chelsea on Sunday, while Liverpool desperately need to win at Tottenham to claw back ground on the top four.

With just two league games left before a mid-season shutdown for the World Cup, Arsenal are surprise leaders, two points ahead of defending champions Manchester City.

City will expect to go top on Saturday when they host Fulham at the Etihad, aiming to crank up the pressure on Arsenal for their game at Stamford Bridge the following day.

Chelsea are 10 points off the top after a three-game winless run in the league and cannot afford to drop more points if they are to have any hope of challenging for the title.

Graham Potter suffered his first defeat as Chelsea boss in a 4-1 humbling on his return to Brighton last weekend.

Fixtures: Saturday (8:30pm unless specified): Leeds vs Bournemouth, Manchester City vs Fulham, Nottingham Forest vs Brentford, Wolves vs Brighton, Everton v Leicester (11pm).

Sunday (7:30pm unless specified): Chelsea vs Arsenal (5:30pm), Aston Villa vs Manchester United, Southampton vs Newcastle, West Ham vs Crystal Palace, Tottenham vs Liverpool (10pm).

Mehra says some points in amended IOA constitution diluted

INDRANEEL DAS @Chennai

SENIOR advocate Rahul Mehra, also the petitioner, is not amused by some of the provisions of the amended IOA Constitution. Though most of the 13 points raised by him in the Delhi High Court were incorporated in the constitution, there were four or five points that could have been included.

"No voting rights to state units, executive council members to be considered as office-bearers and hence tenure and term rule will be applicable to them, these are very big steps," he said. "However, there are at least a few points I thought where the provisions have been diluted.

"What is good for the parent body should be good across the board," he said. "Why should only state units follow IOA's constitution and why not the National Sports Federations, who are the decision-making bodies. They have the votes and the IOA constitution should be applicable right to the state sports federations. Earlier, it was argued that since sports is a state subject, state units cannot be governed by the IOA constitution. But now it can. Even NSFs should follow the IOA constitution, but the amended constitution says they should be in consonance with the international federations. I will raise this objection in court."

Another point he raised is that he would approach the SC to prevent the IOA general assembly from amending the constitution with two-third majority. "I will request the court not to allow IOA to amend the constitution in the next 12 years or three terms. The India cricket body (BCCI) constitution was not allowed to be altered for 10 years. Here too IOA should not without the permission of the court, otherwise, they will change the constitution after taking office." He also pointed out that the Delhi High Court had said that the IOA got a lot of opportunities too but they did nothing.

Mehra also asked what have players done to not get enough representation in the general assembly. "They have 25 per cent representation in EC, but in general assembly, they just have eight members with voting rights. If the eligible NSFs are counted, there might be some 80 votes, so what was preventing the drafting committee from not raising the number to 20 at least? They could have done that. If they had said that IOC had objections, then don't have them. Why just have 10 members with voting rights? We must promote sportspersons."

Mehra also felt that IOA should follow the sports code. According to the draft constitution, "No provisions of national sports code shall be applicable to the IOA if they are in contradiction with the Olympic Charter and this newly adopted Constitution." Mehra said that they must follow the sports code. "The IOC doesn't say that they should not follow it. The earlier IOA constitution says it 'shall be governed in accordance with the IOA Constitution, the Olympic Charter and the law of the land'. It was an IOC-approved constitution then, why should that not be the case this time too."

He also felt that all the 13 points he had suggested to the Delhi HC to be incorporated should have been part of the constitution.

DAY'S DIARY

Iceberg sighted

On November 5, 1987, an iceberg twice as big as Rhode Island broke away from a region of freshwater ice in Antarctica and was sighted

BREAK FREE

The iceberg was about 25 miles wide and 98 miles long, for an area of 2,450 square miles. It was estimated to be 750 feet thick and broke from the ice shelf, at a point called the Bay of Whales

THE AFTERMATH

Unless the iceberg halts close by, its departure will alter the coastline, effectively eliminating the Bay of Whales as a geographic feature, scientists said then

BAY ELIMINATED

More than 10 miles wide in 1911, the Bay gradually narrowed until sometime in the early 1950s. It was completely eliminated when the iceberg broke off

TWITTER BLUES

After taking over Twitter, Elon Musk recently announced an overhaul of the social media's verification system. Soon, users will have to pay and purchase verification. Prominent B'lureans speak to Dese Gowda about how it affects them

ILLUSTRATION
SOURAV ROY

Everyone who wants to get verified, should get verified. But I don't think people should be charged for it. Verification should always be free. In my opinion, monetising the blue tick is essentially monetising credibility. Credibility is like an award. There are awards today which can be bought. And these awards are never respected. Elon Musk says he's trying to democratise Twitter through monetisation. Twitter would be far more democratic without the blue tick entirely than people paying to get one. Given the low price, there would no way to distinguish authentic accounts from bots and trolls. Anyone can now create as many accounts as they wish and verify them.

HARISH BIJOOR, brand guru

Verification is irrelevant to me. Tick or no tick, it doesn't matter. I'm not particularly concerned about my account being authentic. Sure, there will be other accounts all claiming to be the original/official account, but people who love me and know me, will know which one is the correct one, anyway! Every corporate establishment is out there to make money and rightfully so and will have whatever policies and processes they deem fit for their business and it's up to the public to choose if they want to be a part of it. I will try to understand what the new policy reads like and see if there is any point at all to shell out money for a blue tick.

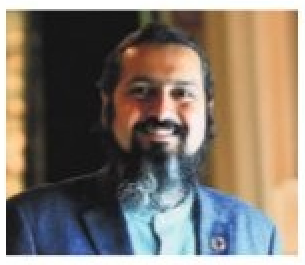
RAGHU DIXIT, singer

Generally, for artistes, Twitter doesn't matter as much as other social media platforms do. I would say that Instagram is the go-to platform for people in the arts world, there's a lot more connection happening there than on Twitter. So, Twitter changing its policy on verification doesn't really matter to many people outside of the news and business sector. I don't see a lot of people who will be willing to pay just to keep the blue tick, especially if they already have a large enough following on the platform.

MANASI PRASAD, musician

I'm not really surprised that Elon Musk decided to monetise verification. He's the same guy who supposedly rented out his house as a night club during his college days to make extra money on the side. Right now, verification has its benefits. When you see the blue tick next to an account, you know that it's authentic. But at the same time, I know a lot of people who are doing incredibly well without it. I feel that even if Twitter goes ahead with their plan to verify everyone who pays, they should have some exceptions to weed out accounts that spread misinformation.

SHANKAR CHUGANI, comedian



The people most angry about this whole thing are not upset because they will have to pay $8, but because now everybody would be able to afford it. Now everybody's going to get a blue tick. It's not going to be limited to a select few. Verification is important to a lot of people, it helps with exposure. Everybody who wants to be verified should be able to get verified. But with the current system, it doesn't happen.

RICKY KEJ, two-time Grammy award-winning composer

With the new system, Twitter is going backwards. If it's only a question of paying $8 to get a blue tick, then it's defeating the whole purpose of verification. Currently, you know that the blue tick is only affordable to people who are authentic and are notable in their field. Even though it was a prestigious thing, it ensured safety for everyone. But right now, it only comes down to money. And it would be very hard to make out which accounts are actually notable.

Arun Adiga, owner, Vidyarthi Bhavan, speaks to CE about serving Starbucks co-founder Zev Seigl, and how South Indian food will now find a spot on the global cuisine map

Starbucks co-founder Zev Seigl gets ready to taste Vidyarthi Bhavan's famed masala dosae

TUNIR BISWAS

WHEN the co-founder of Starbucks, Zev Seigl, stepped into the IT capital of India for the Global Investors Meet (GIM) 2022, he decided to venture into the city's local cuisine scene as well. One of the places the American businessman had his eyes on was Bengaluru's iconic eatery, Vidyarthi Bhavan. He dropped into the restaurant at short notice and had their masala dosae and filter coffee.

For Arun Adiga, owner of the famed joint, it was a privilege to host Seigl. "It's not just about Vidyarthi Bhavan. We're happy because in instances like this South Indian dishes are getting recognition world over. We weren't aware of his visit until only a couple of hours before when one of the coordinators of GIM informed us," shares Adiga.

Regarding the food, Adiga mentions that Seigl sent his compliments to the chefs. "He liked the food even though he dropped in during the evenings when we have a limited menu. But he tasted everything that was available. He ate with his hands, which was nice to see," says Adiga.

Starbucks is known for their coffee across the globe. So how did he find Vidyarthi Bhavan's filter coffee? "He enjoyed it. We specifically asked him how he likes his coffee. He took our coffee with sugar," says Adiga.

When prominent folks from the West try local food, Adiga feels it positively influences the global food culture. "When a person of this stature comes to your place and tries the authentic cuisine of the land, it only enhances the reputation of the food from your culture. We need to remember we are essentially representing our city through our hospitality. If they like our food, they might naturally spread a word about it. It is a matter of great pride for all us," concludes Adiga.

LET'S 'LIGHTEN' UP!

RUBINATIONS
Rubi Chakravarti
Writer, actor and funny girl

EVEN though we've had dreary weather, I, for one am not in the least bit daunted! For sure, it's dark outside and there is this insatiable urge to roll into a ball under a warm comforter, but the mood is upbeat. I'm sure it's because, this week, I chose tranquillity over a manic din. Even though our city whole-heartedly got into the spirit of alien festivities like Halloween and Oktoberfest (both of which involve imbibing copious amounts of ale), I approve! Not only for the ale drinking, but now that the world has shrunk and become a 'global' community, it's nice to know how the other part of the world celebrates.

As Asians, we identify with the fact that all our festivals and celebrations centre around the solstices, as we are predominantly an Agrarian race. But it's fascinating to note, that even the Western Hemisphere follows the same rituals albeit in a different way. The tradition of Halloween for example, originated with the ancient Celtic harvest festival when people would light bonfires and wear costumes to ward off ghosts. As immigrants brought their beliefs and traditions into a new world, the rituals changed but the spirit remained. It's heartening to know that in spite of the ennui and jadedness that exists in the world today, we still manage to imbibe the transcendence of celebration.

I doubt that most of us know the significance of Dasara, Durga Puja or Deepavali. A cursory pooja and then it's party time! Lamps are lit, garish LED lights are switched on and everyone starts counting their party invitations.

The jewels are out, the silks are draped as men and women drink and gamble while the 'kids' (both young and old) literally blow their money up. And why not? Why shouldn't people do what makes them happy as long as they don't infringe on anyone's rights. I think we have all become very significant and pontifical. After limping back to semi-normalcy after a global pandemic, why can't we just chill! We, the survivors, are way luckier than those who didn't make it.

Virender Razdan and Abhijit Saha

I practised what I preached as I attended a close friend's Deepavali-cum-birthday get-together at their home. There were fairy lights twinkling for the benefit of their grandchildren and free flowing ambrosia for the adults. The women looked splendid in their finery and it was such fun to discuss jewellery and the like for a change. Absolutely fabulous food (home-cooked for over three days I believe) and a spirit of living with bonhomie washed over us like perfume. I was thankful for the bounty in my life.

We also managed a long trudge to The Leela Bhartiya City to brunch with our old friend and the new GM Virender Razdan. After a raucous fruit-soaking (a must for Christmas), a bunch of friends sat down to a SE Asian lunch. It is wonderful to have old friends in our midst and I had a great time catching up with friends Sonali Swami (our very own body builder and Asian bronze medalist) and the gravel-toned RJ Tuhinanshu Chaturvedi.

I contemplated (as we had coffee near the poolside) for the many things I need to be thankful for…especially the newest entrant into my family who will be here soon to light up our lives.

Sonali Swami and RJ Tuhinanshu Chaturvedi

Ramya to make her comeback with Rohit Padaki's Uttarakaanda?

Speculation is that the Sandalwood Queen has been offered a lead role in Dhananjay's upcoming film produced by KRG Studios

A SHARADHAA

RAMYA, the Sandalwood Queen had recently put up a note regarding her opting out of acting in Swathi Mutthina Male Haniye, which she will still produce under her Apple Box Studios. Her statement also mentioned that she will be back to acting soon and an official announcement regarding the project will be made shortly. Going by recent speculations, Ramya will be back on the silver screen with Rohit Padaki's Uttarakaanda -- A contemporary gangster drama starring Dhananjay as the lead and bankrolled by KRG Studios. While the makers officially revealed the title and followed with a poster on Dhananjay's birthday in August.

The makers plan to begin shooting in January 2023 after completing shooting for Hoysala, which is made under the same banner. However, the film will be launched with the muhurath on November 6. The production house, the director, and the entire cast have been tight-lipped about Ramya's involvement with Uttarakaanda, but CE has learned that an official announcement of Sandalwood Queen getting on board will be made at this muhurath event. Rohit in his previous interview with CE had mentioned that the story of Uttarakaanda explores the life of people in North Karnataka, and the makers are planning to rope in big names from Sandalwood in the film. With Ramya likely to come on board, there are other big surprises in store from the team.

Zaid Khan makes an interesting debut in a film that blends time travel and romance

A SHARADHAA

BANARAS

Director: Jayathirtha Cast: Zaid Khan and Sonal Monteiro

BY now we know that director Jayathirtha is not a creator who settles for the usual. With his new film Banaras, he takes the viewers on a romantic journey set in alluring yet mysterious Varanasi, the pilgrimage land, the burning ghats, the death knells and the mourning of believers. He fits all these elements within the time travel genre and gets it all right, especially with the casting. He bet a lot on his lead Zaid Khan, and the 10-film-old actor, Sonal Monterio, and emerges with success.

Banaras revolves around the mysterious love story of Siddharth and Dhani (Zaid Khan and Sonal Monterio), whose romance brews a magic in the town and paves way for time travelling. The film, which has limited characters, opens like every youthful love drama, with Siddharth, a flamboyant son of a rich businessman (Devaraj), who introduces himself as an astronaut and a time traveller to his college mate Dhani, a budding singer, just to win a bet with his friends. But the prank ends up sabbotagging Dhani's career and she leaves the college and the city. On learning about it, a repenting Siddharth goes out of his way to find Dhani, leading him to Varanasi. Will Siddarth's prank about time travel turn out to be a reality? Or does he get the taste of his own medicine? Answers the film using time travel in a delightful non-linear manner.

You have to give it up to Jayathirtha and the cinematographer (Advaitha Gurumurthy) for capturing the spiritual locales of Varanasi and Kashi aesthetically. The plot completely justifies the title as film takes us on a journey through the 84 ghats, the Ganges, the temples and the lives of sadhus.

Possessing a surrealistic individuality and a passion towards divinity, the film gives a glimpse of the Kalabhairava temple, which represents the past, present, and future, and the mysterious Bharat Mata Mandir, giving an insight into Akanda Bharatha. Time travel is a relatively new genre for our directors, and Jayathirtha blends this idea with a moving love story. The first half an hour of Banaras introduces us to the main characters with twists in regular intervals. Jayathirtha has smartly used the time travel concept in the second half making the narrative grippy. Of course, the film has its own flaws and it does test the patience of the audience occassionally. But Zaid Khan's impressive performance makes up for it. He shows immense promise and his preparation for the role reflects in his excellent performance. He also impresses in the dance and fight sequences. He comes across as a solid hero material and he is here to stay. Sonal Monterio is the soul of Banaras, as the story is centered around her. Without being just a functional heroine, she understands her character and elevates it with her performance. Sujay Shastry, who plays a meaningful role as a death photographer helps in propelling the story forward. The film also has Achyuth Kumar as the chemistry professor, Narayan Shastry, and Swapna Raj playing his wife.

Technically, Ajaneesh Loknath has weaved several soothing tracks like Maya Gange, Belakina Kavithe, and Hennu Hadeyalu Beda.

A love story blended with time travel is a new path in Kannada, but Banaras stays honest to its attempt.

'IT'S A BLESSING TO STAY AS A COMMERCIAL HEROINE FOR THIS LONG'

... says Rachita Ram, who is happy to have completed 10 years in the industry

Rachita Ram

A still from Kranti

CE FEATURES

"10 years as a heroine in the present generation is a major feat," says Challenging Star Darshan congratulating his Kranti co-star Rachita Ram. "There were times when the heroine had a life span of two decades, but it is difficult now. Today most heroines manage to stay relevant only for 6 to 7 years. It is only her talent and dedication that has brought her to this point," said Darshan.

Rachita spoke to CE about this milestone and her new latest project, Kranti. "I took a leap from the small screen to films and made my silver screen debut with Darshan's Bulbul, and the first day of my shoot was on September 21, 2012. Ten years later, I began shooting for Kranti on the same day, and the crew also celebrated my career anniversary," says Rachita, adding, "V Harikrishna was the music director for Bulbul, and he is again working in Kranti. But this time he is also directing the film apart from composing music." Having been in the industry for a decade, she says that her upcoming film Kranti will redefine the next few years of her film journey. "With Kranti being the first release in the 10th year of my career, it feels like I'm back to square one, and my second innings has begun. Whatever experience I gained over this decade was just trial and practice. I got to study myself as an actor, and observe the industry inside out. But now it is going to be a fresh phase again."

Rachita has always been considered a commercial heroine, and she is happy to maintain that status to date. "It's a blessing to stay as a commercial heroine for the longest run, and a place every actor wishes to be in. Except for one or two films, which I regret doing, I'm glad that every filmmaker had me in their mind when they wrote their characters. However, at times, I was told that I'm a commercial heroine, who they can't afford. It is a wrong perception. Being here for so many years, I understand the Kannada film market. Moreover, I'm an actor first, and only then a heroine. I can blend into any kind of character. I don't value everything from a remuneration point of view. I have tried a few realistic subjects and going forward, I intend to experiment with roles, and good stories," she says. The actor, who has a couple of films like Shabari, and Love Me or Hate Me at different stages of production will finalise her next projects after the release of Kranti on January 26.
